MYSTERIOUS PIZZA ORDERS

Jim Foster's pizza parlor near the super-secret CIA office in Langley, Va., is the stopping off place for "the Browns" who apparently work for the government agency. "It's real rough sometimes," Foster says. "They all call in these carry-out orders using the name Brown. Sometimes we have stacks and stacks of pizza for people named Brown who drive up in black cars." On the wall behind Foster is a large mural lampooning the agency's activities. Anti-Mao Forces Grab Manchurian Rail Line

Insurgents Struggle Near Chiang Islands

COMBINED AP & UPI

Reports filtering out of Communist China today say anti-Mao forces have seized the southern tip of Manchuria and cut rail service to the key Port Arthur naval base, that fighting has been raging on the mainland only miles from the Nationalist Chinese island stronghold of Quemoy, and that bloody clashes are flaring in Tibet.

Peking wall posters said at least three young Red Guard supporters of Mao Tse-tung were killed and several injured in bloody clashes with the dissident troops. More than 400 pro-Mao supporters were reported arrested in the Manchurian battles.

Over Shanghai, anti-Mao elements were reported to have used planes for the first time to stir up anti-Mao unrest among citizens of Red China's largest city.

The rightwing New Life Evening Post in Hong Kong said three unidentified planes dropped anti-Mao leaflets over the port city of 10 million for three consecutive days and caused "great consternation" among Red Guards.

Other arrivals from Kongmun province in southern China told the newspaper a group of 2,000 heavily armed anti-Maoists have been carrying out a guerrilla warfare against the Red Guards in the Pearl River Delta area.

LARGE POSTERS

The Evening Post also reported the appearance in Canton of large-character posters—some 10 feet long—attacking Defense Minister Lin Piao, Mao's heir apparent.

There was no immediate confirmation of the reports. But Peking Radio yesterday claimed followers of the aging Chinese party Chairman Mao Tse-tnug had defeated anti-Maoites in the southern mainland provinces of Fukien adn Kiangsi.

These were the fifth and sixth provinces that Peking says are under Mao's control. The others include Heilungkiang, Shansi, Shantung and Kweichow.

INNER MONGOLIA

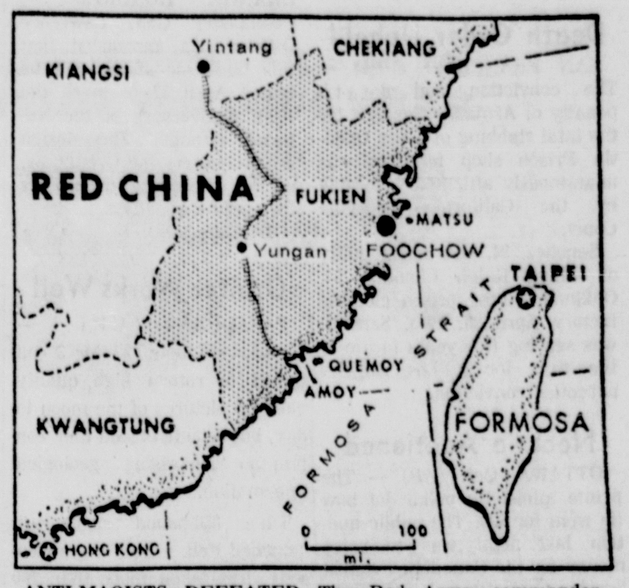
Recent dispatches from Peking, however, have reported clashes between pro and anti-Mao forces in Shantgung as well as Honan, Hunan and Chekiang provinces and inner Mongolia and Tibet.

Bloody armed clases were reported in Tibet between supporters and opponents of Mao Tsetung, in which more than 100 persons were killed, Japanese reports from Peking said today.

Reports from Darjeeling, India, quoted Radio Lhasa as saying three Chinese Communist army divisions, including one from Peking, were dispatched to Tibet to crush the anti-Mao forces.

And in Paris, western diplomats specializing in Chinese affairs said today they have confirmed frequent reports from Communist China that Mao Tse-tung is partially paralyzed.

The latest report on Mao's health was attributed to a western businessman who recently returned to Paris from Peking where he saw the 73-year-old Chinese Communist Party chairman last week.



ANTI-MAOISTS DEFEATED—The Red Army commander of Fukien province claims today to have smashed anti-Mao attackers along the coast only miles from the Nationalist China fortress of Quemoy. (UPI Telephoto map)

State's Budget Minus Marin Park Money

A planned project to buy the Kirby Cove area for Marin Headlands State Park with $541,000 in park bond money has been dropped from the 1967-68 budget, Capitol News Service reported today from Sacramento.

Also canceled or deferred until the 1969 fiscal year is a $189,000 project to remove old military structures on Angel Island.

These changes were revealed when the 1968 budget for the State Department of Parks and Recreation was presented to the State Park Commission today at an Imperial County meeting.

Robert B. Hatch of Santa Rosa, who supervises state beaches and parks in Marin, said:

"As far as I can figure out, any project not actually in progress has been called to a screeching halt. "Apparently, only the most critical projects having to do with sanitation and public safety will be allowed to continue."

Hatch said he does not understand how the park bond fund acquisition project such as the $541,000 allocated for the 321 acres at Kirby Cove in Marin Headlands could be dropped from the budget, since the money does not come from the general funds voted by the people in 1964.

Appraisal for the 321 acres came to a figure much higher than $541,000. Our intention was to augment that this year and complete the purchase," he said. He said the purchase will probably be delayed.

On Angel Island, Hatch said that general cleanup program will continue, but heavy demolition work on old military structures will be delayed.

No new park projects will be undertaken during the coming fiscal year, said Hatch. Operation and upkeep of state parks will continue, "but we may have to operate with less help than in the past."

Poll Uniformity Closings Defeated

SACRAMENTO UPI) —Legislation to prevent announcement of winners in state elections before all the polls have closed was killed yesterday in the Assembly Elections and Reapportionment Committee.

The committee considered four bills designed to set a uniform closing time for elections and thus avoid early announcements.

U.S., South Viet Warriors Pursue Reds On Six Fronts

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops today began the sixth major allied offensive of the week. A military spokesman said the Vietnamese killed 100 Communists in the first few hours of fighting without suffering a single casualty, on the coast just below the North Vietnam border.

U.S. B-52s flew a record seven missions in one day in support of American troops fighting bloody battles further inland, near the Cambodian border, adding more death and destruction to one of the Viet Cong's blackest weeks of the war. So far about 1,000 Communists have been killed this week.

The newest operation, Rio Grande, was opened eight miles west of the coastal city of Quang Ngai and about 350 miles northeast of Saigon. Vietnamese supporting the Marines' 7th Regiment rolled into battle in armored vehicles to rout a Red battalion of 400 to 600 troops.

A series of other major strikes have placed an estimated 35,000 allied troops in action at once.

Operation Deckhouse 6 about 30 miles farther south along the coast was launched yesterday when 2,000 Marines landed at the port of Sa Huynh and began moving inland. A pre-assault air and naval bombardment killed 48 Viet Cong. The operation also was designed to pacify the area and win over the villagers; ironically six villagers were killed and 29 wounded in the operation. The wounded were treated aboard the helicopter carrier Iwo Jima.

Operation Pershing, a division sized offensive and apparently the largest, struck 25 miles south of Operation Deckhouse into a VC area filled with tunnels and trenches. The operation ha killed 92 since it began on Sunday.

Another major effort was Operation Sam Houston near the Cambodian border and about 75 miles to the southwest of the coastal fighting. This is the other end of the big Communist supply route from Cambodia and also is an area laced with tunnels and fortified bunkers. It was here the B-52s carried out their seven strikes in one day.

The Sam Houston fighting 225 miles northeast of Saigon has pitted three battalions (about 2,400 men) of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division against a 1,500-man Communist regiment in fierce fighting along an eight-mile mountainous stretch near Kontum. A patrol found 51 bodies in an air strike and then artillery killed 41 more. But one company of the 3rd Brigade was mauled severely in fighting with a Red force of unknown size.

The sixth major offensive was far to the south where a large South Vietnamese unit was driving through the Mekong Delta 110 miles south of Saigon against the Viet Cong's 303rd Battalion. The Vietnamese Wednesday.

Demos Seek End To Gas Chamber, GOP Wants It For More Crimes

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Two Democratic legislators introduced bills today to repeal the death penalty and said if capital punishment is supposed to prevent crime, then executions should be seen by the public.

Some Republicans, meanwhile, asked for extension of California's death penalty to sex crimes, sharpening the conflict. (See earlier story, page 5).

Sen. George R. Moscone, D-San Francisco, said capital punishment is not a deterrent to crime and California's crime rate hasn't changed markedly in the last three years, when there have been no executions.

"To be consistent with the purpose of the death penalty—if we can't have this bill, let's have executions in Union Square," Moscone said "The point is somewhat satirical."

Assemblyman Lester A. McMillan, D-Los Angeles, agreed, saying all members of the legislature should see the next execution scheduled for San Quentine Prison.

McMillan, who has introduced bills against capital punishment for the last 17 years, said his bill was similar to Moscon's legislation. Both provide for life imprisonment without parole as a substitute for execution.

Both legislators discussed their bills at a news conference.

Moscone said he'll ask Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan to provide statistics showing the death penalty is a deterrent to California's homicide rate.

Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, introduced a bill for a four-year moratorium on the death penalty. But the Democrats' new drive against capital punishment was met by Republican bills to extend it to more crimes.

Assassin Plot Probe Claimed

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Orleans Parish (county) district attorney's office has started an investigation into circumstances surrounded President John F. Kennedy's assassination, the States-Item said today in a copyrighted story.

The States-Item said the district attorney's office "is pouring out-of-the ordinary sums of money into a probe of a possible asssasination plot."

Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison refused to confirm or deny the report.

"The possibility of a well-organized assassination plot in which New Orleans and New Orleans residents were somehow directly involved is said to be at the center of the investigation," the States-Item added.

The newspaper said Charles Ray Ward, Garrison's chief assistant, confirmed several weeks ago that an investigation was under way.

"Since the early conversation with Ward, the investigation apparently has picked up momentum," the States-Item said.

Ward was unavailable for comment.

San Rafael Cadets Rip Off Insignia

Rebellion erupted yesterday at San Rafael Military Academy.

Cadet officers turned in their insignia of rank and cadet noncommissioned officers ripped off their stripes.

School authorities clammed up tight on the incident today, but students said a student grievance committee is seeking a meeting with the board of trustees to voice their complaints.

Reportedly most of the school's cadet officers turned in their ranks, saying they no longer wanted to put up with the responsibility and loss of friendships involved in being officers.

"There's a general dissatisfaction in the way the military runs the school," said Pfc. Arch Monson III of San Francisco today. "The main problem is the lack of morale in the school." He tore off his stripes yesterday in sympathy with the officers' resignation.

School drum-major John Dunlap of Pullman, Wash., ripped off his master sergeant stripes, too. He said the main reason for the mutiny was that cadet officers felt they weren't getting the privileges that go with officer rank, and they also felt they weren't getting definite answers on disciplinary problems from Col. Lee Alfred, senior Army instructor, who heads the school's military program.

Headmaster L. W. Robinson today refused to discuss the rebellion. "We have no problems, ma'am," he answered an inquiry.

Paul Ciampi, San Rafael beer distributor and treasurer of the school's board of trustees, said, "These are just little things we have in running a school, and things we're working out ourselves."

Stephen H. Hackett, the academy's business administrator, said: "It's a matter of our own linen, just young boys growing up."

Everything was normal today at the academy located at Fifth and Cottage avenues.

M/Sgt. Dick Kagan of San Francisco said one of the conditions stipulated for the student committee meeting with the trustees was the return to full military uniform and discipline today.

Kagan didn't take off his stripes, but contended that "a big problem in the school is inconsistency in discipline and the way it's handed out."

Other students said they don't like the rank system since it often means that a junior gives a senior directions and friendships are broken.

Reportedly about 18 cadet officers turned in their rank yesterday — all but two of the school's officer corps, which includes lieutenants, captains, and a few higher grades.

Students wear dress uniforms of dark blue ornamented with gold braid, and the fatigue uniform is olive drab.

Regents Block Tuition One Year, Strive For Budget

SANTA BARBARA (UPI)—The University of California will remain tuition free for at least another year but the Board of Regents will resume in two months its emotional debate on Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposal to charge students $280 annually beginning in the fall of 1968.

The board yesterday voted to maintain the university's historic no-tuition policy through the 1968 spring quarter.

It was also decided "to underwrite" a university budget of $255 million—$40 million over Reagan's request—even if it has to mortgage dormitories to do it, to permit about 6,000 more students to enroll.

At the same time, the regents voted to ask the Legislature for $264 million, enough to accept the 9,000 new students the university expects next fall. At the $255 million level, 3,000 qualified students must be turned away.

The regents originally requested $278 million. Spending for the current fiscal year will total about $240 million.

Reagan warned the regents they would have to develop an extraordinary source of funds because the state cannot afford a $255 million appropriation.

The Republican governor cast the only vote against the regents' action in refusing to impose tuition immediately. Bu he admitted before the meeting it would be impossible to put the charge into effect next fall anyway.

He insisted that the regents make a firm decision on tuition

Bible Class Sued

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — For the second time in less than a year, a lawsuit has been filed here to stop the teaching of a course called "The Bible as Literature."

The suit filed yesterday is against the Lake Washington School District, which offers the course at suburban Redmond High School. Superior Court Judge William Wilkins set a hearing for March 1.

The earlier suit, filed last April 18, was against the University of Washington. Superior Court Judge W. R. Cole ruled last June 15 that the university could continue to offer the course. The plaintiffs have appealed to the State Supreme Court.

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP) — The prime minister's polka dot bow tie went for $30. The public auction last night was to raise money for the Canadian Friends Service Committee. Sukarno Deadline

JAKARTA (UPI) — The Indonesian congress will meet March 7 to 11 to dismiss President Sukarno and start legal machinery to try him for treason.

A special congressional committee set the meeting date last night after rejecting Sukarno's account of the economic and political policies which brought the nation to the brink of bankruptcy and communism.

The vote of no confidence came at the end of a three-day meeting of the 70-man committee. It apparently closed all exits for the figurehead chief executive to bow out gracefully from Indonesia's political scene.

CIA FUNDS GOING TO OTHER GROUPS?

Gifts Linked To Five Foreign-Oriented Groups; NSA Aide Blasts At CIA Threats

COMBINED AP & UPI

NEW YORK—The New York Times said today that five more academic and international organizations have been receiving funds from foundations identified as conduits for Central Intelligence Agench money, according to an examination of records.

In a dispatch from Washington the Times said this brought the known total of such organizations to 11.

FUND RECIPIENTS

The newspaper identified the five new groups linked to CIA-connected foundations as:

The Pan-American Foundation, connected with the University of Miami in Flordia.

The International Marketing Institute ,a private organization that holds seminars at the Harvard Business School in Cambridge, Mass.

The American Society of African Culture in New York, which provides works by American Negro writers and taped programs on Negro life in the United States to African redio stations.

The American Friends of Middle East in Washington, which sponsors travel to the Middle East and finances publications.

The International Development Foundation of New York, which specializes in training peasant and urban slum leaders in Latin-American countries to promote social progress there.

TIES DENIED

Officers of the five organizations said they had no knowledge of any connection between their groups and the CIA.

The Boston Globe published today excerpts from what it said was a secret report written for the CIA by a former official of the National Student Association.

The excerpts describe reactions of NSA members who accompanied six Soviet student editors on a visit to the United States from May 17 to June 16, 1958.

"In capsule, the student hosts compiled in-depth dossiers on each of the foreigners, complete to the degree of noting personality pluses and minuses," the Globe said in a copyright story.

THREATS CLAIMED

In Washington a National Student Association spokesman today accused the Central Intelligenve Agency of "intimidation" against NSA leaders the agency feared would reveal the clandestine relationship between the two organizations.

"Officers of NSA who had signed national security oaths have not violated their trust. Yet they have still been threatened with legal action, and this has been only a part of the harassment," Philip Werdell, a NSA press liaison representative, charged in the statement.

A Washington newspaper said today it was informed by a "responsible authority" that President Johnson was "totally unaware" of the Central Intelligence Agency's financial tie with the NSA.

NSA officials themselves said they consulted Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey last summer when they sought ways to break the clandestine CIA tie by replacing the income with above board money from other sources, preferably non-governmental.

NSA ACTION

As an emergency NSA board meeting on the organization's future dragged into the third day today, its leaders appeared convinced abandonment of its international branch will be the cost of its long-secret financial link with the Central Intelligence Agency that now has come to light.

NSA leaders said yesterday no CIA money has gone into the student organization's domestic activities, including its extensive civil rights program in the South.

LBJ 'Doing Fine'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson was given a routine heart examination by his doctor yesterday and was reported "doing just fine."

Las Gallinas Sewer Hookup Authorized

Directors of Las Gallinas Sanitary District last night gave tentative approval to sewer installations in the 32.9-acre Terra Linda Unit 21 adjacent to the Meadows, district secretary Helen D. Foulks reported.

A session on general information on district finances with auditor William T. Eckhoff was postponed to March 2.

Committee May Urge Pay Cut For Powell

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The special committee judging Adam Clayton Powell may recommend that if he is seated in Congress his $30,000-a-year salary be docked to reimburse the government for alleged payroll and travel abuse.

The plan was only in the idea stage, but it was learned today that at least one member of the nine-man panel was ready to put forward the proposal.

Besides having a legal purpose, the plan would put the onus on Powell by leaving it to him to decide whether he would be willing to serve in the House for reduced pay or for no pay at all.

Several members of the committee are known to have reservations about the legality of denying Powell his seat if he can meet the three constitutional qualifications for House membership-age (he's over 25), citizenship (natural-born U.S.), and residence (he's a New York resident).

But a seldom-used law permits the House or Senate to dock the pay of members who owe money to Congress for one reason or another.

How much he would lose in pay would probably be up to the committee.

Powell could object to docking his pay on ground he owes the government nothing. His lawyers hope the courts will accept a constitutional challenge to any action that would bar him from his seat, but they are less likely to win a court review of a method of punishment prescribed by the House.

The special committee took a day off today after beginning deliberations on the case. By Feb. 23 the five Democratic and four Republican members must recommend to the House whether Powell should be restored to the seat he has held for the past 22 years.

The members met in closed session late yesterday to mull over what they had uncovered. They ended their hearings in the morning with the dramatic testimony of Powell's estranged wife, who begged that her husband not lose his seat.

Unlicensed Clam Dig Costs Marinite $15

A Tiburon man has been fined $15 for taking clams without a fishing license at Tomales Bay State Park on Feb. 5.

William S. Johnson, 40, of 481 Irving Court told Judge David R. Baty of West Marin Justice Court at the hearing Wednesday he did not know a fishing license was required.

Congressman Plans Against Rail Strikes

WASHINGTON (UPI) —With the nation's railroad workers moving tward an April 12 strike deadline, Congress was asked today to keep major transportation industries on the move during labor disputes through compulsory and binding arbitration if necessary.

Rep. J. J. (Jake) Pickle, D-Tex. —recalling the six-week strike that grounded five major airlines last year —introduced a bill to add permanent strike-preventing provisions to the Railroad Labor Act, which covers railroads and airlines.

The bill would provide for extended cooling off periods — up to 270 days —during which there would be non-binding emergency board recommendations. As a last resort, there would be "final and binding arbitration by a special board.

The idea was pertinent, since James R. Hoffa's Teamsters Union also is negotiating a new contract. Although truckers come under the jurisdiction of the separate Taft-Hartley Act, an effort could be made to include them under Pickle's railway-airlines bill if it goes anywhere.

Burglars Busy Day And Night In Marin

Daylight burglars struck at the Bel Aire apartment of Ray M. Swenson, 2121 Greenwood Cove Drive, making off with $300 worth of guns, plus other loot, sheriff's deputies said today.

Swenson told officers a front door lock was jimmied Wednesday. He said the intruders also broke into his gun case, taking three rifles and a shotgun. Other loot included two sport coats, two radios, $4 cash, and a revolver were also taken from the apartment, he said.

Marina Frances Fairweather of Alto told deputies she and a roommate, Adell Williams were sleeping when a young man entered their apartment and stole $30 cash and a small woman's gold watch.

Miss Williams awakened to see the man, described as tall, slender, and wearing horn-rimmed glasses and a raincoat, hurry out the front door.

Phillip Louis Hayes, 10 Milland Drive, Strawberry, reported his apartment's front door was forced and burglars took $20 cash, two men's hats, and a $30 transistor radio while he, too, was sleeping.

Intruders entered the unlocked home of Fred A. Bigall on Morales Avenue, Forest Knolls and made off with $15 in change from a large whisky bottle used as a piggy bank.

Frank W. Nealds of 32 Homestead Boulevard, Homestead Valley, told deputies someone jimmied his rear door and left tracks across the carpet but nothing was missing.

Bruce McDonald, principal of Deer Park School in Fairfax, reported burglars broke three classroom windows and took a microscope. The microscope was found later, discarded on a nearby hillside.

Burglars pried the trunk of a car owned by Jesse Eugene Perry, 9 Burgess Court, Marin City, and stole several tools. Perry said the break-in probably occurred at Sabella's restaurant parking lot in Alto where he parked the vehicle Tuesday.

Scavenger Firm Given Partial Rate Increase

Marin City Community Services District directors last night approved a 50-cent increase in garbage collection rates to $2.25 a month for the 86 customers in the district, reported chairman Jesse E. Berry.

Bay Cities Refuge Service Co. has asked a $2 rate for flat areas and $2.50 for hilly areas, Berry said, "but we just did not think there should be that difference." The increase will be effective April 1.

Directors also asked the housing authority to help finance operation of the Manzanita Community Center, which is to be rebuilt in the spring. Annual cost of operating the center has been estimated at $27,000 to $35,000, Berry said.

Pierre W. Joske, county director of parks and recreation, and Harold I. Jackson, director of Boy's Club of Southern Marin, were asked to recommend procedures to process applications for director of the community center.

Directors discussed an application for federal "model city" funds for the community center, but took no action. Funds may not be available for 18 months, directors were told by Thomas F. Campanella, assistant county administrator.

Inflation Problem Pinned Down

LOS ANGELES (AP)— What happens to a stewardess wearing an inflatable bra when the cabin of her jet plane is depressurized?

Just what you're thinking, Herman. Inflation.

Los Angeles Times columnist Matt Weinstock related today these potentially explosive circumstances on a recent Los Angeles-bound flight. He withheld the identity of the girl and airline.

"When she had, ahem, expanded to about size 44," Weinstock wrote, "she frantically sought a solution. She found a woman passenger who had a small hatpin and stabbed herself strategically.

"However, another passenger, a man of foreign descent, misunderstood. He thought she was trying to commit hara-kiri. He grappled with her, trying to prevent her from punching the hatpin in her chest.

Kennedy was killed in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963. While here, Oswald claimed to represent the pro-Castro Fair Play for Cuba movement.

The States-Item said the district attorney's office has spent more than $80.00 on unexplained travel and investigative expenses since last Nov. 25, most of it in connectinn with trips to Dallas, Houston, Miami, Washington, San Francisco and Angola, the Louisiana State Penitentiary.

The Warren Commission said its investigation of Kennedy's slaying had produced no evidence to indicate the existence of a conspiracy.

The States-Item said it had uncovered these details about the investigation here:

A man arrested here and booked as a fugitive from Texas four days after Kennedy's death was kept under surveillance for the district attorney for 24 hours last month. The man was supposed to appear before a parish grand jury, but it is not know if he did so.

A Cuban serving nine years for burglary has been transferred from the Angola penitentiary to the Orleans Parish prison by the district attorney's office. This man formerly lived just a block from the last New Orleans address of Oswald and is reported to have known Oswald.

A second Cuban with a Miami address was paid money by the district attorney's office for "investigative expense" in January.

Garbage Box Service Off

Debris box service for Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District residents, which was to have started today, has been canceled under pressure from Mill Valley Refuse Service Co., reported district engineer Leonard Mitchell.

District directors requested the service Tuesday from Fred Grange Debris Box Service, Corte Madera. Today, however, Grange informed Mitchell that he could not provide the service because if he did he would lose the business of the garbage company.

He said Lewis Figone, partner in the garbage company, had complained that the district is served by a competitor, Henry's Service of Stinson Beach. Grange provides hauling service for Figone's company.

Figone's attorney, Albert Bianchi, confirmed that Figone said "he saw no reason to do business with someone doing business with a competitor."

Bobby Wonders About Bombings

SYOSSET, N. Y. (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy told high school students today he has "serious reservations about the military effectiveness of the bombing of North Vietnam."

He said "the war should be settled in South Vietnam at the peace table."

Kennedy told reporters trailing him on a visit to high schools and medical facilities on Long Island that he was preparing a "major policy speech" on all aspects of the Vietnam situation.

Traffic Deaths Set New Record

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Traffic deaths and injuries set new records in California during 1966.

Highway Patrol Commissioner Harold W. Sullivan said in a report issued yesterday there were 4,830 traffic deaths and 230,000 injuries last year in the state.

The previous highs were 4,743 deaths in 196 4and 220,460 injuries in 1965.

Sullivan said, however, the number of persons killed per 100 million miles driven dropped during 1966. Californians drove a record 95,987,000,000 miles, and the number killed per 100 million miles driven dropped from 5.1 in 1965 to 5.0 in 1966.

The commissioner said it was the lowest mileage death rate on record.

WOMAN TAKES GIFT OF POT TO DEPUTIES

Miss McLeod, who declined to identify the man, told officers they smoked some of the marijuana, then she decidfor future years before the Legislature completes work on the state budget for the fiscal year that begins July 1. He won that point when the board, on a 12-6 vote, agreed to take up the matter April 20.

Reagan said he would be more likely to support a state appropriation to make up the $20 million which tuition would have raised if the regents agree to impose tuition in future years.

The governor's item veto power permits him to reduce a legislative appropriation, an action which can be overridden only by a two-thirds vote of the Senate and Assembly.

The regents also approved a motion by Unruh directing the university to develop a scholarship program for needy students in the event that tuition is approved.

GOP Proposes Death For Crimes Of Sex

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Republican proposals to extend California's death penalty to sex crimes sharpened the recurring conflict over capital punishment today.

Sen. George R. Moscone, D-San Francisco, and Assemblyman Lester A. McMillan, D-Los Angeles, scheduled a news conference to introduce legislation repealing the death penalty. Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, proposed a one year moratorium on capital punishment.

The Democrats' new drive against the death penalty was met with a Republican move to extend it to more crimes.

A bill by Sen. Robert J. Lagomarsino, R-Ojai, and Assemblyman Newton Russell, R-Tujunga, would allow the death penalty to be applied to "a person who kidnaps a woman to commit forceable rape or who kidnaps a child for purposes of lewd conduct."

"This proposal would act as a strong deterrent to such kidnap-sex crimes and hopefully might make California avenues and parks safe for unsuspecting children and women," Lagomarsino said.

"We now may subject kidnapers who kidnap their victims for the purpose of ransom or robbery with a possible death sentence," he said. "Rape is certainly much more harmful and more humiliating to the victim than robbery."

Earlier this week, Gov. Reagan told representatives of the American Civil Liberties Union that his support of the death penalty was based on its effect in preventing crimes.

The main argument over capital punishment this week centered the death penalty's effect as a deterrent. Courts currently may sentence a convicted person to death for murder or for kidnaping, especially kidnap with injury — California's Little Lindbergh Law.

School Land Transfer Is Approved

Transfer of three parcels of land along Tennessee Valley Road from Mill Valley School District to Sausalito School District has been approved by the Marin County School District Organization Committee.

Transfer from one district to the other of the parcels extending inland from the ocean about three miles along the road anticipates future development and is to eliminate the possibility of pupils on different sides of the road attending school in different districts. Under the annexation, approved by both districts, the future pupils will be in the Sausalito district.

The committee will recommend approval by the board of supervisors.

The committee at its meeting Wednesday also declared that the former Burdell School District, now a portion of the Lincoln School District, should be annexed to Novato Unified School District, rather than to a unified district in Petaluma as suggested by the Sonoma County School District Organization Committee.

Lots In Peacock Gap Sold In Bonds Default

Three Peacock Gap lots were "sold" today because of default on improvement bonds.

The auction, in the county tax collector's office, is one of a series scheduled each Friday through March, according to Jean Krysiak, junior accountant in the office, who ran the sale.

The buyers today hope to make about one per cent per month on the money they put up to cover the default of assessment district bond payments when title is cleared on the property.

Title to the property does not go to the bond purchaser for a year. The treasurer-tax collector's office in Marin has never transferred title in such a case, the finances always being cleared up prior to the expiration of the year.

Stone and Younger today paid $6,294.24 for a lot on Lagoon Road and $6,230.95 for a lot on McNear Drive, while Sol Langsam paid $9,294.24 for a lot on Peacock Drive.

LBJ's Big Jet Patterns Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — A good many of the neighbors don't like the flying done with President Johnson's big jet plane near their homes. They say it scares them.

More than 150 residents of suburban Forestville, Md., near Andrews Air Force Base, met last night to protest that some flight patterns there pose a threat to life and limb.

It turned out their primary target was a prestigious one — Air Force One.

"The President's plane comes in so close to my house that I can see the pilot's face," one man said.

About 10 others said the plane flew so close there was no doubt about its identity.

Stolen Car Found Parked In Sausalito

A car reported stolen from the Corte Madera Shopping Center last night was found undamaged in Sausalito at 6:50 a.m. today, parked on Bridgeway.

Howard P. Ady of 70 Lambert Way, Novato, told Corte Madera police last night that his 1962 Corvair was taken from the Corte Madera Shopping Center sometime between noon and 9 p.m. yesterday.

Yesterday Is Bad Day For Youth

Yesterday was a bad for a 17-year-old San Rafael boy.

A witness gave San Anselmo police the license number of a car which may have been involved in the theft of a San Francisco Chronicle newspaper rack from San Anselmo Tuesday morning.

The car was registered in the boy's name, and when Police Sgt. Albert G. Howentstein went to the boy's home to ask about it, the boy volunteered to take the officer to where the rack was hidden.

The two were en route in the patrol car when an all-points bulletin came over the police radio to pick the boy up for truancy from Terra Linda High School Continuation School.

"This just isn't my day," the boy remarked, resignedly.

The newspaper rack was recovered and the boy was taken to Juvenile Hall.

Bond Veto Puts Pupils In Tents

CALIPATRIA (AP)—The failure of a $1.3 million school bond issue by a mere 27 votes means nearly 500 students will be evacuated from two schools and attend classes in tents, officials reported today.

Superintendent James A. Stevens of the Calipatria Unified School District called on the Army and National Guard to supply big tents for five high school classes. He said he also arranged for seventh and eighth graders to travel to Niland, about 9 miles north, for classes.

The school bond issue would have provided for new buildings to replace structures at Calipatria High School and Bonita Elementary School that were found to be unsafe if an earthquake occurs.

Pair Arrested Shortly After Two Forged Checks Cashed

A couple was arrested in Fairfax last night, minutes after a forged $112.82 check had been cashed at the Lucky store in Fairfax and another forged check for the same amount had been cashed at the United Market in San Anselmo.

Jacque L. Burton, 23, of Rodeo was held today in Marin County jail in lieu of $5,500 bail, charged with forgery and conspiracy. Donald W. Kantola, 39, of Vallejo, charged with conspiracy, was released this morning on $5,500 bail. San Anselmo and Fairfax police both filed the same charges on the two checks.

San Anselmo police were notified at 6:45 p.m. that a man and a woman had tried to cash a $112.82 check at the Drake Market, but had paid in cash and kept the check when a clerk called the store manager to verify the check.

Drake Market employees gave police a description of the couple and their car, and said the two had driven toward Fairfax. San Anselmo police radioed Fairfax police to watch for the car.

Fairfax and San Anselmo police stopped the car, which Kantola was driving, as it left the Lucky store parking lot. Kantola told police he was alone, but another Fairfax officer arrested Miss Burton at Vi's Club Drake. Police then learned of the two allegedly forged checks.

Arraignment Set For Mrs. Busolo

I-J Special Report

KINGMAN, Ariz. — Arraignment of Mary Ellen Busolo, 43, on an involuntary manslaughter charge in the shooting death of her husband, a former San Anselmo business man and civic leader, has been set for 11:30 a.m. Feb. 27 in Mohave County Superior Court.

Her husband, Licino Busolo Jr., 53, was shot to death in his home at Lake Havasu City Dec. 19. Mrs. Busolo reported the shooting three days later and said she had planned to kill herself with the gun, but that it accidentally discharged during a quarrel with her husband.

The Busolos move to Lake Havasu City from San Anselmo a little over two years ago.

'DAMN THE TORPEDOES! FULL SPEED AHEAD!'

Engineers hope to raise from a 38-foot bed of silt the Union ironclad Tecumseh, whose sinking in a Civil War battle in Mobile Bay, Ala., caused Adm. David G. Farragut to yell, "Damn the torpedoes! Full speed ahead!" Announcement of the discovery on Feb. 1 was made yesterday. This sketch by Robert Weir shows the vessel going down after it was sunk by a mine on Aug. 5, 1864. (AP Wirephoto)

Here's Basic Philosophy Behind Zone Amendments

By CAROL MARSH

The rigid requirements of a city zoning ordinance can be relaxed to worthwhile effect if an area is developed according to a unified plan.

That is the basic philosophy behind two amendments to the Larkspur zoning ordinance being considered by the Larkspur Planning Commission, according to Ronald H. Glander, building and planning superintendent.

The two amendments would allow flexibility inside a "planned development" that would not be permitted if the parts of the area involved were developed separately.

MINIMUM SIZE

The minimum size for a planned one-family residential district is 10 acres, but inside the 10 acres the developer has considerable flexibility in lot size, density, variety in height, size and shape of buildings and the amount of each lot covered by a building, Glander said.

While the city zoning ordinance sets minimum lot sizes for individual houses, the planned district would allow some lots to be smaller, with compensating open areas, as long as the overall density of the area conformed to the zoning ordinance.

If the area included rough terrain not suited to building but fine for hiking trails or other recreation use, the developer could build all the houses on the flatter land and dedicate the rest as open area.

The developer would have to apply for the special district zone, and would have to submit complete plans for the development showing the topography of the land, the building sites and shape of the buildings, the areas planned for specific recreational purposes, and the distances between the property lines and the buildings.

Buildings could cover up to 60 per cent of a lot in this kind of development, while the zoning ordinance allows only 40 per cent coverage in individually developed lots.

Northridge is the most likely area of Larkspur for this kind of development, Glander noted, as about 300 acres in Northridge are undeveloped.

PLANNED UNIT

The second amendment would create planned unit developments for commercial, industrial and other uses besides residential, with minimum size of four acres.

These developments do not require a special zone, but can be planned in any zone, with the same internal flexibility allowed in the residential district on lot size and buildings balanced with open areas.

Proposals for the two special districts were first drawn up by planning consultant John D. Erickson as part of the city's general plan. The planning commission started review of them about six months ago.

Greyhound Wins Commuter Plan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The State Supreme Court yesterday ruled against a Public Utilities Commission order that Greyhound Bus Lines establish new peak-hour commute service in Contra Costa County and the Peninsula.

The high court ruled unanimously that the PUC order did not comply with state law and was insufficient.

The ruling referred to an order last year that Greyhound service Skyline Boulevard to San Bruno and Ygnacio Valley Road to Concord.

Eight Killed In Target Area

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Eight South Korean civilians were killed and two wounded yesterday when they strayed onto an artillery range where U.S. and Korean troops were holding target practice.

A spokesman for the U.S. 8th Army said all safety precautions had been taken and warning notices posted in the area near Yonchon, 40 miles north of Seoul.

Korean police said the victims were scrap metal scavengers from villages in the area.

Korean and U.S. authorities are investigating.

Elephant Gets Adult Diploma

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — It was graduation day at the San Francisco Zoo and all eyes were on Enorma. All eyes were necessary because Enorma, though an adolescent, is big: a 1,400-pound elephant.

With a mortar board perched on her head, Enorma was graduated yesterday from the children's zoo to the adult pachyderm house. Keeper A. W. Kennard proudly presented his charge with a diploma.

Enorma nimbly grasped the document with her trunk—and ate it, ribbon and all.

Application Processing Criticized

Richard F. Wood, 67, of San Rafael complained to the Marin County Personnel Commission yesterday that his application for the newly created post of full time deputy coroner was not properly processed and that he was misled by the personnel department.

Wood, an unsuccessful candidate for coroner last June, said there was a breakdown in counications that might have been intentional on the part of the personnel department.

First of all there was confusion over a letter from personnel director Robert D. Elliott, who said that position might be included in the safety officer category, breaking off applicants at a "minimum" age of 35.

Elliott said yesterday he had intended to say maximum age.

Nelson told the commission that he probably told Wood at the time that all qualified applicants would be referred to Coroner Donovan O. Cooke for his consideration. Wood, however, countered that Nelson had promised his application would be sent to the coroner. He said he checked with Cooke later and Cooke said he had not received the application.

Elliott said that six applications were referred to the coroner last month and Cooke made his decision, but the man has not yet been hired. Pay range for the job is $619 to $753 per month.

Commission vice chairman Bella H. Aaron, sitting in for the absent Margaret Lucas, said the issue appeared moot, but commissioners wanted further examination of the safety officer question. Elliott said counties do not include deputy coroners as safety officers, who have a mandatory retirement age of 60.

Voice In CSD Policy Hinges On Fire Pact

Directors of Marinwood Community Services District last night promised to give Upper Lucas Valley residents representation of the Marinwood Fire Commission if Upper Lucas Valley contracts for fire service.

Hearing on formation of a county service area that would contract with Marinwood CSD is set for 3 p.m. March 21 before county supervisors.

Directors of the CSD last night asked that legality of appointing a person to a commission from outside the dsitrict be investigated, secretary Genevieve Bolding reported.

The directors adopted pool membership fees of $15 for a single person, $30 for a family, and agreed that $5 non-district residents would be accepted on an override charge of $100 each. The pool will open April 1.

The commission hired Robert Hamilton as part-time fireman under the Economic Opportunity Act student assistant program. The district pays only 10 per cent of the $2 an hour salary. Hamilton, a resident of Marinwood, is a student at College of Marin.

McInnis To Tell Women Of ABAG

County Supervisor John F. McInnis will discuss the Association of Bay Area Governments at Tuesday's luncheon meeting of the Marin Federated Republican Women at noon at Franchini's Chateau, 4500 Redwood Highway, north of San Rafael.

Mrs. Charles G. Williams, president, said luncheon reservations should be made by tomorrow.

Pool Fees Voted By Strawberry Rec Directors

Fees of $40 for families in the district and $75 for non-resident families for season passes were adopted yesterday by the Strawberry Recreation District board, which will take over operation of the Strawberry Swim Club pool on April 5, termination date of the swim club lease.

Residents of the district will be sent application forms for the passes, the board decided. Non-resident pass-holders will be limited to 50.

Directors estimated operating costs for the pool will be between $1,000 and $12,000 yearly. Repairs and replacements recommended by the district's architect J. Martin Rosse of Strawberry, were epected to run about $1,000.

The Strawberry swim team, organized by the Strawberry Swim Club, will be encouraged to continue if season pass-holders want to supervise it, the board agreed.

Next regular meeting of the board is set for March 1.

Young Theft Ring Bared By Police

Fairfax police today reported they have broken a burglary ring operated by a gang of seven high school students aged 12 to 15 years and all described by police as coming from "respectable homes."

The youth admitted 16 burglaries during the past two months and stealing about $500 in cash and goods, said police.

The looted homes were on Tamalpais Road Spruce Road and Berry Trail and some homeowners had not realized thefts had taken place, said Patrolman Myron MacNeil, who was taken on a tour of the properties by the youths.

Police closed in on the gang after Mrs. Shirley L. Cole returned to her home at 151 Tamalpais Road Monday and found a youth inside.

She called police and several boys, seen walking away from the house, were picked up and questioned.

MacNeil, who worked on the case with Patrolman Paul Simpson, said the gang usually operated tegother, gaining entry through windows. In one case, glass in a door was broken with a B-B pellet.

The youths were cited for burglary and petty theft and released to their parents.

Another Snow Storm Heading Into East

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

A storm which left up to 10 inches of snow across the nation's midlands, moved toward the East Coast today as residents of hundreds of communities cleaned up following yesterday's hurricane force winds.

The Ozark-bred storm left a blanket of snow 6-10 inches deep on northern Arkansas and southern Missouri with up to 9 inches reported in southern Illinois, 3 inches in West Virgnia and Indiana and 6 inches in Kentucky.

Heavy snow—four inches or more—and hazardous driving warnings were posted today for nine state area including Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana, Arkansas, Missouri, North Carolina, the Virginias and Maryland.

The snowstorm seemed to be following a track just south of the path followed late Wednesday and yesterday by a storm system that smashed its way from the Midwest to New England.

The winds, which reached 108 miles per hour on mile-hight Mount Washington in New Hampshire, lashed hundreds of communities from the Mississippi Valley to the North Atlantic Coast, ripping down power lines, smashing homes and businesses, toppling cranes and towers and tossing trailer homes about like building blocks.

At least 16 deaths were connected with the winds and the blizzard that swept from the Dakotas to the Canadian maritime provinces. Wisconsin counted 7 deaths, New York 4, Pennsylvania 3, and Ohio and Iowa 1 each.

Subzero cold moved in behind the blizzard and bluster. Arctic-like cold today gripped an 11-state area along the northern border of the country—from northeast Montana to the interior of New England.

Just south of the latest snowstorm, sleet and freezing rain created difficult conditions from central Arkansas across parts of Tennessee and northern Mississippi.

A two-story building collapsed at Buffalo, N.Y., where winds ranged up to 82 m.p.h. Two bodies were recovered from the wreckage. A construction worker was killed and another injured at Rochester, N.Y., when a gust tumbled them from scaffolding.

Temperatures over the ocean vary little from that of the water.

Drinking Control Extension Urged

SACRAMENTO (AP)—California's alcoholism control program should be extended beyond its March 1 scheduled termination to July 1, 1968, the Senate has voted unanimously.

The alcoholism bill, after clearing the upper house Thursday, next goes to the Assembly. Gov. Ronald Reagan indicated his support in a letter to the Senate.

Introduced in 1965 in legislation sponsored by Sen. J. Eugene McAteer, D-San Francisco, the program set up local treatment centers in nine counties and two cities. It is due to expire next month.

Group Formed For Funding New Mansion

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A bi-partisan group, headed by Leland M. Kaiser of San Francisco, was formed yesterday to carry out a drive to build a new governor's residence in Sacramento.

Founding members of the committee were: Hugh H. Evans Sr., Leonard K. Firestone, Y. Frank Freeman, X. Wayne Griffin, Robert M. Haynie, Jacuelin Hume, Edward Mills, Arch Monson Jr.,, A. C. Rubel, James J. Rudden, Henry Salvatori, Taft B. Schreiber, William French Smith, Benjamin Swig and Holmes Tuttle.

Kaiser said he hoped "all Californians" would participate in "this great enterprise."

The committee's aim is to construct a gubernaotirial residence in a location away from downtown Sacramento, but a site has not yet been selected. It will replace the present aging gubernatorial residence, which recently was described as "a fire trap."

The Volkswagen Squareback Sedan. Any questions?

1. How much?
$2395* plus $125* for a steel sunroof, if you like.

2. It looks bigger than the beetle. Is it?
Yes. Outside and in. Outside, it's only 6 inches longer. But inside, there's room for 5. Or, you can fold down the rear seat and carry 2 people plus 42.4 cubic feet of things. (More than the trunks in the biggest sedans.) A full-sized bed slides in. There's also 6.5 more cubic feet of trunk space under the hood.

3. How many miles to the gallon?
About 28, on regular gas.

4. Is it more powerful than the regular Volkswagen?
A touch. The Squareback can beat the beetle at a stoplight, and has a higher top speed, too. (84 mph vs. 75.)

5. Same kind of engine?
Yes: air-cooled (so it can't freeze up or boil over) and in the back (for good traction in bad weather).

6. Same kind of suspension?
Yes: each wheel has its own independent torsion bar. So when one wheel hits a bump, only one wheel hits a bump.

7. Same kind of stick shift?
Yup: same kind of stick shift. Four forward speeds. Synchromesh in all four gears.

8. Isn't anything different?
The list is endless. The Squareback has disc brakes in front, for example. You can check the oil without even looking at the engine. Inside door handles are recessed so you won't catch your clothing. There are 49 seating positions. Plus a padded dashboard and padded cowling all around the instruments. Big pockets on both doors to store all those glove compartment type things that never seem to fit in the glove compartment (like gloves). And (somewhat curiously for a company that once considered a gas gauge unnecessary) an electric clock.

9. Is all that standard equipment?
Glad you asked that question. Yes.

10. What about parts and service?
Silly question. We've never sold cars where we couldn't service them. (Over 900 Volkswagen dealers had parts on hand long before they had the cars.) There is a Squareback shortage right now, but no shortage of Squareback parts.

11. How does it stack up against the VW Station Wagon?
It doesn't. Because it was never meant to. It doesn't carry nearly as much. (But then what does?) Its doors aren't as many or as wide, and it seats 5, while the bus seats 9.

12. Will it change every year?
Yes, in the same way the beetle changes: only to improve it. We'll change all kinds of things from year to year (mostly things you won't even notice until you drive the car for a while). But nothing will be changed just for the sake of change.

13. It costs more than the beetle, but is it as good?
Car and Driver magazine says: "No one can fault this Volkswagen on quality of construction, no matter what standards they employ. No more solid amalgam of metals ever rode on four wheels and none likely ever will. Volkswagen has a hard-earned reputation for toughness and this one doesn't stand a chance of marring the family name . . . You simply can't buy a better-built, low-priced sedan."
Thank you for asking.

PACIFICISTS PREPARE TO SET SAIL

Six American pacificists, including Phil Drath of San Rafael, along with the wife of one of the group, pose on the deck of their tiny yacht, Phoenix, at port of Misaki, Japan, near Tokyo. The group was to set sail sometime today for North Vietnam to deliver $10,000 worth of medical supplies. They are (left to right) Drath, Betty Boardman, Madison, Wis.; Dr. and Mrs. Earle Reynolds, formerly of Antioch, Ohio, now living in Japan; Bob Eaton, Philadelphia; Horace Champney, Yellow Springs, Ohio, and Ivan Masser, Boston. One of the group said today the North Vietnamese Red Cross has warned them not to sail because their boat may be bombed by American warplanes. (AP Wirephoto)

Kent Island Buyer Claims District Erred

Nature Conservancy today declared that Bolinas Harbor District directors erred in saying tha that title to Kent Island could not be insured and that directors also missed the mark on the price of the 110 acres in Bolinas Lagoon.

Nature Conservancy purchased the land from Mrs. Thomas T. Kent Jr. Tuesday and deeded it to the county for preservation as a wildlife refuge. The national conservation organization paid $85,000 for the property and will conduct a fund drive to cover this purchase.

The Harbor District board, claiming the purchase would not change the harbor development proposed in the lagoon, said its appraiser set a value of $54,500 on the land.

Huey D. Johnson of Nature Conservancy said today that Mrs. Kent's appraiser put a value of $172,000 on the property.

The land is appraised at $82,000 on the county assessor's role.

Johnson also said the title has been insured.

"We would be foolish not to get insurance," he declared.

Flood Office Will Extend Marin Stay

Because of a brisk business, the temporary office of the Small Business Administration in San Rafael City Hall will remain open Monday and Tuesday to handle loan requests from Marinites whose property was damaged in last month's storms.

SBA representative Vincent Kenney, manning the office in the city recreation director's quarters, said he has handled a large number of applicants since opening yesterday.

Office hours will remain from 8:45 to 4:30 p.m.

Homeowners and businessmen can get 20-year, 3 per cent loans through the SBA because the federal government declared the county a disaster area. No proof of inability to obtain a loan from a bank is required of an applicant, Kenney said.

Applicants were requested to call for appointment before going to City Hall.

Novato Collision Hurts 2 Drivers

Both drivers were slightly injured in a two-car accident yesterday on the curve on South Novato Boulevard north of Midway, according to Novato police.

Judith Lynn Kollgard, 20, of San Jose, was northbound at 1:40 a.m. when her crossed over the center line and collided with a southbound car driven by Gary Louis Woodward, 17, of 675 Olive Avenue, Novato, police reported. Miss Kollgard was cited for driving on the wrong side of the road.

Woodward complained of a pain in his lower back and Miss Kollgard was cut on her left knee, police reported.

12 Children Among 15 Killed In Fires

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Twelve children were killed in fires in Michigan, Pennsylvania and Iowa yesterday. Three of the fires were fanned beyond control by high winds that made rescue impossible.

Mrs. Patricia Dowding and her three children were killed near Charlotte, Mich., when the fire swept their small, one-story frame house. The father, Ronald Dowding, 30, although critically burned, ran to the home of his parents, but by the time the fire had been discovered it was out of control.

Similar conditions took the lives of three children of Mrs. Joseph Wagner just 35 miles away when the flames raced through their 100-year-old farmhouse. Mrs. Wagner was hospitalized in shock.

Firemen at Midway, Pa., were unable to cope with high winds which hampered their rescue efforts for three sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Salmon. The sons died and Mrs. Salmon was treated for burns. The father was at work.

Twelve below zero temperatures at Sioux Falls, S.D., caused problems for firefighters trying to save a burning apartment building. A tenant in the building, Miss Mabele Beckfield, 27, died in the fire.

The other three children to die in a home blaze yesterday were claimed in a fire that swept their Jefferson, Iowa, home following an explosion. The victims were daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James Allen who were hospitalized in critical condition.

Teen-Ager Arrested In News Rack Theft

A 16-year-old San Rafael boy, caught stealing change from a newspaper rack, was booked for theft yesterday at Marin Juvenile Hall.

Harold W. Sands, a distributor for the San Francisco Chronicle, said he saw the youth take the money from the rack outside a Greyhound bus shelter on the Terra Linda overpass of Highway 101. Sands alerted police, who nabbed the teenager.

Speed Change For Novato

A new speed limit of 45 miles per hour is being established on Highway 101 through Novato from just south of Delong Avenue to 600 south of Lamont Avenue, the State Division of Highways announced today.

The new limit, to become effective within a few weeks, replaces a 50 mile per hour speed zone for northbound traffic. No limit had been posted in the southbound lanes.

The changes weje approved by the Division of Highways after a traffic study requested by the City of Novato.

School Site Plans Upset Rec Board

Sausalito Recreation Commission last night "expressed concern" about the effect on its program of school district plans for a new plant for all pupils at the Bayside School site, reported chairman James E. Muldoon.

The proposed plant would take the Little League baseball diamond, he said, and sale of Richardson Bay School to finance the new plant would "wipe out" five of the six city tennis courts. The sixth court is in South View Park.

A school district trustee is to attend the commission's March meeting, Muldoon said, to discuss the effect of the proposed plant on recreation facilities.

Commissioners deferred action to March 16 on conversion of a small green area in South View Park to a horseshoe court.

Commissioners asked the city council to divert part of the $1,000 budgeted for improving Harrison Avenue Park to repair the Valley Street float. Cost of the repair is not yet known, Muldoon said.

Britons spend about $2.5 billion yearly on organized betting and gambling.

Sausalito Demos Elect Officers

John M. Anderson of Sausalito, an attorney with offices in San Francisco, was elected last night as president of the Sausalito Dmocratic Club at the club's annual meeting at Alta Mira Hotel.

Bruce Woelfel, who works as a city planner in San Francisco, was elected vice president, and Rene McIntyre, secretary-treasurer.

Gerald N. Hill, president, and California Democratic Council, spoke on CDC and California politics.

Fire Board Elects

Tamalpais Fire Protection District commissioners last night elected Morris Batz as chairman for 1967, reported outgoing chairman Carl H. Modell. Also elected were Janet Taylor, secretary, and Byron O. Boulware, treasurer.

Today is Friday, Feb. 17 ,the 48th day of 1967 with 317 to follow.

The moon is in its first quarter. The morning stars are Jupiter and Mars. The evening stars are Saturn, Jupiter, Venus and Mercury.

American novelist Dorothy Canfield was born on this day in 1878.

On this day in history:

In 1801, after 35 separate ballots, the electoral tie was broken when the House of Representatives named Thomas Jefferson the third President. Aaron Burr, tied with Jefferson, was named Vice President.

In 1817, Baltimore became the first American city to have a street lighted with gas.

A Thought for the Day — British playwright David Garrick once said: "Let others hail the rising sun, I bow to that whose course has run."

North had already bid his hand by jumping to three notrump, but there might have been some excuse for a further bid of five hearts.

There was no excuse for his actual jump to slam.

South might have held the king of hearts instead of the ace, and there would have been no play at all for slam.

Declarer took the first trick in dummy with the ace of diamonds and led the queen of hearts for a finesse.

When West discarded a club it looked as though South would have to lose a trump as well as a diamond.

Pausing only to cast a baleful look at his partner, South continued with dummy's jack of hearts.

Then he gave up a diamond.

West returned a spade to dummy's king, and South ruffed a diamond.

RUFFS TWICE MORE

South led a club to dummy to ruff another diamond and got back to dummy with another club to ruff a third round of clubs. Then he led a spade to dummy's ace.

By this time East and South were reduced to two trumps each, with the lead in dummy.

No matter what East did, South could overruff, thus making the slam.

NORTH BRAGS

South had to ruff three times to allow dummy to lead at the twelfth trick.

Otherwise, South would have been stuck in his hand at the tenth or eleventh trick with nothing but trumps -- and East would have won a trick with the king of hearts.

North said nothing about his partner's fine play. Instead, he bragged: "There aren't ten players in the city who would have bid a slam with my hand."

He may be right at that.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♥ Q J
♦ A 9 5 4
♣ A K 5 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one diamond.

No response by your partner can be embarrassing.

If you open with one club, and your partner responds one diamond, you are stuck for a good rebid.

Government Heavy Owner Of Marin Land

By WAT TAKESHITA

With the Point Reyes National Seashore, military lands and other state and county recreation areas that abound in Marin, you think the county has too much land in public ownership?

Far from it, according to a study made by State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

Total public ownership of land in Marin amounts to just over 14 per cent, one of the lowest percentages in the state. Statewide figures show that total government ownership (federal, state, county, city, school and special districts) is almost 49 per cent of California's land area.

ALPINE COUNTY

They range from Alpine County, where government owns 92½ per cent, to Sutter County, where government has only 3.88 per cent of the acreage. Of 58 counties in the state, only 12 counties have less government ownership than Marin.

Senator McCarthy said his figuures are based on a 1965 report of the Senate Fact Finding Committee on Natural Resources.

According to that report, Marin County has 332,800 acres. The biggest public owners in Marin are special districts, which have 5.83 per cent of the county. The bulk of this is in water district land.

Next in line come the federal government—3.48 per cent; state — 2.67 per cent; county—one per cent; cities—.79 of one per cent, and school districts—.26 of one per cent. Total government ownership is 14.03 per cent, leaving almost 86 per cent of Marin in private ownership.

U.S. OWNERSHIP

By comparison, Alpine County is almost entirely "government" —92.58 per cent. Others with heavy government encroachment on land area are Inyo—85.68 per cent; Mono—79.11 per cent; San Bernardino—78.17 per cent; Tuolumne—77.01 per cent; Del Norte—73.51 per cent, and Plumas—71.20 per cent.

Government ownership in Marin is broken down as follows:

Special districts—19,410 acres (over 18,000 acres in water district land); federal—11,572 acres (about half military and half in national parks); state — 8,887 acres (the bulk in state parks, San Quentin Prison, and state highways); county—3,321 acres; cities—2,617 acres, and school districts—881 acres.

Restitution Ordered In Worthless Check

Charles M. Byrnes, 29, was given a year's probation and ordered to make $30 restitution yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for passing a worthless $50 check last July 28.

Byrnes, with the Navy at Coronado, San Diego County, originally was charged with forging two checks with intent to defraud Bradford S. Clark of 111 San Gabriel Drive, Fairfax. He pleaded guilty to the amended misdemeanor complaint Jan. 27.

Even Hungry Sharks Going For Bikinis

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Bikini-clad women bathers are not only appealing to men but also to sharks.

The fact that sharks have an eye for a sexy woman came out yesterday during a meeting of the American Institute of Biological Sciences.

Dr. Leonard P. Schultz of the Smithsonian Institution said the one-piece bathing suit—without any contrasting skin between pieces—is much better than a two-piece bathing suit.

Schultz told a panel discussion that a compilation of reports on shark attacks showed colorful beach fashions were just as appealing to undersea monsters as they were to men.

Supporting Schultz' observations, researcher Mary-Frances Thompson said sharks were very perceptive animals.

They can see very well, they can hear very well, they can smell very well and they are sensitive to noise, she said.

Navy Capt. David H. Baldridge told the meeting that the only solution to the problem of foiling sharks was to put swimmers in plastic bags.

He explained that the Navy has invented a heavy plastic envelope with an inflated life ring at the top. He said it is filled with water and the man gets into it.

Guatemalan Air Deputy Is Slain

GUATEMALA (AP) — Lt. Col. Eduardo Figueroa, deputy chief of the Guatemalan air force, was assassinated yesterday as he sat in his car waiting for his children to leave school.

Authorities said an automobile drove slowly by, shots rang out and Figueroa slumped in his seat. Police blamed the terrorist National Liberation Army, which has carried out murders, kidnapings for ransom and bombings.

Woman Eludes Store Pursuit

A woman accomplice of a man suspected of buying $120 of clothing on someone else's credit card sprinted to freedom yesterday after the couple had been caught in Macy's store in San Rafael.

Her male partner, Marvin Harris, 26, of San Francisco was booked in Marin County jail on a charge of theft after the store had checked on the owner of the credit card.

As he and the woman were walking back with security officer Martin J. Conlin, the man yelled at the accomplice: "Split, baby, split." She ran as he grappled with Conlin, said San Rafael police.

Noted Sculptor On Mill Valley Program

Mill Valley's internationally known sculptor Richard O'Hanlon will be the speaker at the guest day meeting Thursday of the Outdoor Art Club.

His topic for the program, starting at 2 p.m., will be "A Sculptor's Point of View." A professor of sculpture at the University of California, O'Hanlon is currently working on a sculptural grouping in black granite for the Mill Valley Library which will be ready for installation within two or three weeks.

He and his wife, the noted artist Ann O'Hanlon, maintain large studios at their home in Mill Valley. They are planning a research trip around the world starting in Japan in 1968.

O'Hanlon's work is in the collections of the Addison Gallery of American Art, the Chicago Art Institute, Denver and Baltimore Art Museums, John D. Rockefeller III and San Francisco Museum of Art as well as in many private collections.

He has exhibited in Canada and in the Biennale at Sao Paulo, Brazil. He has had many one-man shows all over the country, including the Willard Gallery in New York. One of these shows moved on to the Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh and then on to the University of Kentucky.

The sculptor is noted for his interest in design in nature, especially as found in the high Sierra, and for his use of the ancient lost-wax process.

Special guests of honor at the meeting will be Mrs. Arthur Luchetti, president, Mrs. Alf E. Uddenberg, dean of presidents, and Mrs. Paul A. Hammer, president of the Marin Women's Legislative Council—all of the Golden Gate District of the California Federation of Women's Club; and presidents of the Marin Women's Clubs: Mesdames John Conkle, Grace L. Stewart, Mark Lott, Olive Lidell, Charles L. Tacchi and George Chapman.

Chairmen are Mesdames Fitz William Guermont, Gerhardt Von Bonin and Erling Michaelsen.

'Women Have Special Point Of View'—Banking Advisor

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

There's nothing like learning by doing for women who may be interested in careers in banking, says Margaret Bennett.

Effective March 1 Carl Schieck of San Rafael, president of the Pacific National Bank in San Francisco, has announced that Mrs. Bennett, a longtime Mill Valley resident and employee for 40 years, will head the bank's newly organized women's advisory service.

Mrs. Bennett says that establishing this kind of service is a trend in banking all over the United States.

"In money matters, as in other areas of life," she says, "women have their special point of view. Their needs can often differ greatly from those of men. In many households today's woman has become the money manager, while others who are suddenly left with responsibility, often do not know where to turn for competent financial advice.

"For these reasons," she points out, "many women find our advisory service invaluable for the management of their everyday finances and for the special problems which can occur from time to time.

"ALSO MANY WOMEN prefer to talk to a woman about these things," she added.

One of the most common areas in which Mrs. Bennett expects to give advice is concerning checking accounts. This will involve explaining how checks should be written or endorsed for maximum protection and how to keep accurate balances that agree with bank statements.

The latter could mean solution of a colossal puzzle for many women!

With confusion resulting from so many ads today screaming about interest rates and telling how one place to save is better than another, Mrs. Bennett will point out the differences in various savings institutions and the interest rates they offer.

She will explain the advantages of banking by mail from home, saving time as well as car expenses or carfare, and how valuables can be protected in safety deposit boxes for pennies a day from fire, theft and misplacement.

She said, "Many women, we find, are reluctant to ask professional advice when borrowing money and need help on learning the businesslike way to build credit ratings and how to finance needed items or deal with an emergency."

NOT COMPLETELY understood, she believes, is how a bank can assist with traveling abroad by assuming the burden of arranging financial details, explaining expenses to be expected, arranging exchange of money into foreign currency and supplying financial introductions that may be needed for a prolonged stay. Assistance is also available with planning itineraries and obtaining passports and transportation.

A graduate of Tamalpais High School, Margaret Bennett attended Munson's Business College in San Francisco and then went to work for the Pacific National Bank as a stenographer when it had only 20 employees. The single unit bank without branches now has 300.

She worked in all departments of the bank until she reached her present position, becoming an officer of the bank as assistant

Book Reviews Set At Church

The Rev. Benton Gaskell will discuss "Churchill" by Lord Moran, using references from Randolph S. Churchill's book about his father, and excerpts from Churchill's own work for comparison.

Tea will be served afterward. Mrs. Robert Rabe is program chairman, and Mrs. Mary Ritchie is reservations chairman.

"The series is our only fund raising project" said Mrs. David Imrie, president. Proceeds go for church furnishings.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

As Ballet Experts Talk Shop

By MOLLY MARIN

Fascinating shop talk between Senora Amalia Hernandez, director and choreographer of the Ballet Folklorico of Mexico, and Belvedere ballerina Sally Bailey took place at the reception given Tuesday by former Belvedere Mayor and Mrs. Merritt Ruddock at the apartment they maintain on Telegraph Hill.

Senora Hernandez invited Sally, assistant ballet mistress for the San Francisco Ballet Company, to conduct a class for the Folklorico dancers. A pre-performance warm-up is essential, the two experts agreed. Sally extended an invitation to the distinguished woman from Mexico to visit the studios of the San Francisco Company.

The Ballet Folklorico's opening performance in the San Francisco Opera House Monday is a benefit for the World Affairs Council of Northern California, of which Merritt Ruddock is director.

SENORA HERNANDEZ, as guest of honor, was chic in a soft green cocktail dress trimmed with black beading. The frock, she explained, is a sophisticated version of the muslin dresses decorated with embroidery, worn by women of Oaxaca district in Mexico. Mexican consul general Adolfo Dominguez and his wife, who attended the reception, spoke of the courage of the handsome brunette. Her decision to become a professional dancer was most upsetting to her prominent Mexican family. Family ties were strained when she became a member of a national dance company.

She later formed her own dance troupe of eight members. Meanwhile she studied the ethnic dances of her native country. Through her personal efforts the Ballet Folklorico was formed. There are now two groups of dancers and musicians, the 75 with which she travels ten months of the year, and a second company which remains in Mexico. Senora Hernandez has three children. Her son and older daughter remain in Mexico, but her 10-year-old daughter sometimes accompanies her on tour . . . for relaxation the dance director collects sea shells from all over the world.

MARINITES WHO are planning to attend the opening performance of the Ballet Folklorico include Messrs. and Mesdames George Sears of Sausalito, William Schwarzer of Mill Valley; Lawrence Connell Jr., Allan Littman and Edwin Gratonik of Tiburon; Franklin Hawley, Arnold Vasa and Miss Margaret Wolfson of San Rafael; Mrs. Ralph Dewey, Mrs. Arthur Vogel and Diane Kipp of Belvedere; Mrs. M. Galloway Ferrin of Kentfield and Andrew Kilner of Greenbrae.

PATTY CARPENTER OF HOLLYWOOD, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Carpenter of Novato, has a part in "Rango," a television show which will be shown tonight. The Carpenters and their friends will get together at 9 p.m. to view the color show in Novato.

MR. AND MRS. OMER L. COTTERELL of Novato were honored on their silver wedding anniversary Saturday. The Cotterells were married on Valentine's Day in 1942. Their daughter, Barbara, was hostess for the party attended by 100 guests. Their son, Lee, is in Rhode Island and did not attend.

Twelve of the original wedding party were guests including Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hammerich of Fresno, Mesdames William Bellamy of San Francisco, Henry Gastman of Carmichael, Charles Ray of Napa and Miss Virginia Danne of San Francisco and Messrs. and Mesdames Sheldon Leavitt, Daniel Matroccee and Norman Ried of San Francisco and Judge Robert Barber of Oakland.

Mr. Cotterell's mother, who will be 85 in May, also attended from Selma.

Mrs. Cotterell wore her wedding gown and Mrs. Robert Hiebel of Novato made an exact copy of the wedding cake topped with their original wedding fruit cake. The minister that married them in San Francisco, the Rev. John Col-

HELEN HELP US!

Good-Hearted Business Woman Suddenly Goes Gaga Over Man

DEAR HELEN:

A dear friend of mine, a good-hearted woman who has worked hard building a small business, is making a fool of herself. Recently she met a man who is taking her, and laughing behind her back.

He has stopped working and she's been paying his way ever since. Now she's talking about selling her present home and business and setting this clod up in a shop. Helen, he is a bum and hasn't the brains to run anything except into debt. She will lose everything she's worked so hard for, and then he'll walk out on her. That's his history. He lives off gullible women.

I can't tell her or I'll lose her friendship. Why do lonely women in their forties get so stupidly blind? — CONCERNED

DEAR CON:

. . . Because they're lonely women in their forties. At this point, every "clod" has his silver lining — the silver usually furnished by them.

If your friend has a small business, she must surely have a lawyer or financial advisor. Tell him what you know and perhaps he can open her eyes.— H.

DEAR HELEN:

When and where should an engaged couple kiss? My son and his fiancee kiss quite passionately in front of the family. I've told them I thought lovers' kisses should be precious and private. They say they are proud of their love and why shouldn't children and other relatives know it?

I'm proud that they enjoy our home and they don't go off to a lover's lane. I love my future daughter-in-law as much as my own. But I still say, heavy necking in public isn't proper. — WORRIED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER:

You are so right! Anything which embarrasses others is in poor taste. When two people are proud of their love, they shouldn't make it look cheap — H.

DEAR HELEN:

What do you think of a dame who gives a "just divorced" party and invites all her friends to celebrate. Then she leaves on a trip with a "Just Divorced!!" sign on her car. Seems to me failures shouldn't brag about it. — FORMER HUSBAND (ALIAS "SLAVE")

DEAR FORMER:

Seems to me that in trying to show you up, your EX has brought herself very low. But then YOU haven't exactly distinguished yourself — calling her a failure coast-to-coast.

It's a shame your Lohengrin ended on a sour note. You two could make beautiful discord together. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am married and have a two-year-old son. But I'm in love with another man. My husband loves me very much, but this other guy doesn't. He used to while my husband was away, but now he doesn't come around any more. What would you call him? — M. U.

DEAR M:

Smart! Why aren't you? — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

She believes banking offers almost unlimited opportunities for women and that the best way to acquire training is the learning by doing method so that one has a complete orientation in all aspects of the business.

"So many people nowadays don't know anything about the background of their work," she said.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

So you think this is the age of jet-power? Maybe so. But the bicycle, one of the oldest modes of wheeled transportation, still holds a firm grip on the affections of many. Perhaps the most ardent of the bike enthusiasts are those who cycle for competition. Marin Magazine editor Don Keown reports on them, and bicycling generally, in tomorrow's issue of the I.J. weekend supplement.

A view of Mount Tamalpais is one of the most prized possessions of a Marin homeowner. But did you ever pause to wonder about Tam's origins. One man who ponders that question often is state geologist Salem Rice. He is currently engaged in making the frist really detailed geological study of Marin's mountain. And some of the things he is learning are related in tomorrow's I-J Marin Magazine.

LINING UP—This is the way they lined up recently at the Rafael Theater in San Rafael to see Walt Disney's "Monkeys Go Home," which is currently playing. The film stars Dean Jones, Yvette Mimieux and Maurice Chevalier.

Condemned To Die, He Still Plans To Marry

CHICAGO (AP)—A prisoner appealing his sentence of death in the electric chair plans to be married next week.

Martin Tajra, 35, condemned to die in 1962 for the slaying of a restaurant manager during a robbery, says that he and Frances Beatty, 25, will wed.

"I've warned her of the possibility of what will happen if I lose my appeal," Tajra said, "but she wants to go through with it."

Mrs. Beatty is a widow and mother of two children.

Warden Jack Johnson of Cook County Jail said, "It's the first time a condemned man has been married in any jail, to my knowledge."

The marriage actually will be performed in the judge's chambers of the Criminal Courts Building, which is connected to the jail.

Tajra said he got Mrs. Beatty's address from a fellow inmate.

"We just started writing and then pretty soon she started visiting me," he said.

"It all started out just joking around — and then things became serious," he added.

Warden Johnson, a foe of capital punishment, will direct the execution if Tajra loses his appeal to the Illinois Supreme Court. Johnson agreed to the marriage.

Johnson said, "it has to be a civil ceremony. None of our chaplains can marry him because we can't guarantee the consummation of the marriage."

Other featured roles will be played by Mona Horwitz and Mary Diederich. Choral director is Richard Sparapay, musical director is Leonard Jared and choreography is by Teresa Wyatt.

Kenneth Bauder Art

Oil paintings by Kenneth Bauder of Mill Valley are being exhibited through next Thursday from 10 a.m. to noon daily at Brown's Hall, Mill Valley.

Atom Ship's Homecoming Like Wake, Not A Fete

NEW YORK (AP) — The nuclear-powered merchant ship Savannah—the onetime ship of the future that is now headed for the mothballs — has come home from the Mediterranean to a harbor welcome that was more like a wake.

Steamship officials and relatives of the 64 crewmen were waiting on the pier as the vessel berthed yesterday in Hoboken, N. Y.

Also waiting were members of a "Save Our Savannah" committee, formed recently by ship buffs and maritime union members to protest to the White House and Congress against mothballing the ship as a government economy measure.

The 595-foot, 15,585-ton Savannah cost $83 million. She is scheduled to make more voyages in the spring and summer but the U.S. Maritime Administration has announced she will be withdrawn from service later this year. The administration said the ship has been running at a deficit of about $3 million a year.

MARIN FILM FARE

'Georgy Girl' Is Delightful; 'Gambit,' 'Appaloosa' In Novato

By LES DARD

If it's been a rough week and you're all set for an out, take yourself to the movies—there's plenty to choose from this weekend around Marin.

NORTHGATE THEATER

Very probably everybody's candidate for most delightful picture of the year is "Georgy Girl," now on screen and starring Lynn Redgrave, James Mason, Alan Bates and Charlotte Rampling. It couldn't come more highly recommended.

The Georgy (Georgina) of the title as played by Miss Redgrave is a generous, loving girl whose large awkward form hides a sensitive soul. She shared an apartment with Miss Rampling, a wild mod-type who bounces carelessly from one love affair to another.

The most frequent visitor to the second story flat is a truly remarkable arch-kook by the name of Jos (Alan Bates). As might have been expected, Georgy's room-mate becomes pregnant, so she and the propective father—bewildered Jos—get hastily married.

Georgy's life is always like this—she's the onlooker, the one throwing the rice or working in a day-nursery. But as the mother-to-be becomes more and more ill-humored about the coming infant we find Jos and Georgy getting together—to read Dr. Spock, or watch TV programs on child birth. An attachment grows between them that's stronger than either realizes at first.

But Georgy has another admirer. He's James Mason, extremely wealthy, he has employed her father as butler for many years, and he wants her for his mistress.

But now we're getting too deep into the twists and turns of the film to be safe, so you'll just have to see it yourself. As the charming song by the Seekers points out, Georgy is a mother at heart and, well, what more can be said?

Don't miss it.

NOVATO THEATER

And a-spoofing you will go—if you drop by for "Gambit," now playing with Michael Caine and Shirley MacLaine.

Co-featured is "The Appaloosa."

101 DRIVE-IN

Now showing is "The Loved One," featuring Jonathan Winters, Robert Morse, Anjanette Comer, Rod Steiger and Liberace.

Most of the heavy artillery is aimed at the American funeral syndrome.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Now playing is Federico Fellini's first in color: "Juliet of the Spirits."

This is a provocative film of fascinating contrasts, of simplicity and yet of profound meanings. It is a film of colorful details, lush and sometimes baroque backgrounds, and of superb performances.

SEQUOIA THEATER

Let's say it simply: "The Professionals," now playing, is one of the best Westerns to come along.

Ralph Bellamy plays a blustering tycoon in the seething Mexico of the 1800's. When his Mexican wife (Claudia Cardinale) is abducted by renegade bandido Jack Palance, he calls in the best in the business to get her back — for $10,000 apiece. Burt Lancaster, Lee Marvin, Robert Ryan and Woody Strode are the deadly pros.

MOTOR MOVIES

Gregory Peck teams up with Sophia Loren in "Arabesque," a classy intrigue.

Really fine stuff, and the co-feature "A Man Could Get Killed" is good viewing too.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

Going big right now all over the country is "Is Paris Burning?" held over. Essentially, this is the story of the freeing of Paris by Allied liberation forces and the French Resistance at the end of World War II. It also includes a look at Hitler's plan to leave the city of the Louvre and Notre Dame in rubble.

The fast-paced story is contributed to by a fine international cast, including Charles Boyer, Jean-Paul Belmondo, Alain Delon, Leslie Caron, Gert Frobe, Orson Welles, George Chakiris, Kirk Douglas, Robert Stack, Yves Montand, Simone Signoret, Jean-Pierre Cassels and Anthony Perkins.

RAFAEL THEATER

The title says "Monkeys, Go Home!" but neither the four lovable chimps or Dean Jones, Yvette Mimieux or Maurice Chevalier are going anywhere until Sunday. So take the family.

FAIRFAX THEATER

Britain has provided us with very talented Michael Caine and the splendid tragic-comedy "Alfie," and this theater has been showing it for seven weeks.

You surely don't want to miss Caine's outstanding portrayal of Alfie—an irresponsible, irresistable rogue who tells his birds (girls) that he has absolutely no honorable intentions and then proves it to them.

LARK THEATER

It's extremely hard to even think about "A Man and A Woman" without going into superlatives, for the simple reason that this is a superlative film.

Color photographic techniques have to be seen to be believed, performances are masterful and the tender and beautiful story only seems familiar until the climax.

Small groups of four or more —or even larger groups, for that matter—going to Taverna Yiasou for the first time for a Greek dinner, might do well to have it served family stlye.

Order an assortment of entrees and side dishes and let each one compose his own plate to his liking.

This is the advice of Athena Getas, who in waiting tables here is one of the best saleswomen I have ever seen. Being Greek she can give you a running account of every dish on the menu—and since her sister Lou is the chef, she can even tell you how it's prepared.

I watched Athena the other evening handling a group of six. Two of the party had eaten at the restaurant before and obviously had prevailed upon the rest to come along for a trial run. It was just as obvious that the four newcomers had agreed to the excursion with reluctance and were taking a dim view of the whole thing. One or two were resigned to their fate but you could tell the others were ready to complain at the drop of a teaspoon.

Once maneuvered to the table, Athena's psychological treatment took over. Although my wife and I finished eating we had to sit this one out, so we lingered. Fortunately the critical stage passed with the serving of the soup. By the time we left you never saw such a happy group and judging from the "ahs" and "ums" they'll be back sometime.

Which goes to show that you have to take a chance occasionally to have a rewarding restaurant experience. If you've been regarding the idea of Greek food with suspicion swallow your doubts and make your mouth ready for some moussaka, dolmathes or a lamb shank and finish up with baklava. Maybe a double order of that last if you don't have to worry about your weight. The address is San Pedro Road across from the Civic Center entrance.

META AND BOB KRINGE are closing the Black Forest in downtown San Rafael Monday for a short vacation. Reopening is scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 28. They were talking about going to Mexico, but it seems now they'll make a left turn somewhere instead.

ON THE SAN RAFAEL SECTION of the Miracle Mile, demonstrations will be given at L'Europe Restaurant by chef and co-owner Frits Verburg on preparing some of his recipes. Monday afternoons from about 2:30 to 3:30 is the time suggested, but it would be wise to call and make advance arrangements.

TRAVEL AGENCIES are now promoting tours into Montreal, Canada for the 1967 World Exposition which opens there April 27. If you are planning on such a trip this year it appears that you should find plenty of good places to eat.

In fact, there will be so many restaurants you and 22,999 other Expo '67 visitors will all be able to sit down and eat at the same time. At least 70 dineries and almost as many more snack bars are being considered. Both service and price standards will be checked continually throughout the entire exposition by restaurant inspection teams to make sure everyone gets a proper mouthful for his money.

Cuisine from countries all over the world will be served, with 30 of the restaurants in national pavilions. Thirty-eight restaurants will be run by the exposition itself. Eight are planned for the International Carrefour in the amusement area.

Among the food operators will be a Hawaiian dinery, lounge and night club with luau menus and grass-skirted scenery. Others will be serving up their viands a la Austria, Belgium, India, Israel, Italy, Jamaica, Japan, Mexico, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, France, Germany, Greece —and so on. And of course Canada will have a large establishment of its own—large enough to seat 600. Should be a good place for gourmets with jaded palates.

Average check at the inexpensive eating places should be about $1. Moderately priced meals will go for perhaps $1.75; medium and high $3.75 and if you want to take in the de luxe dineries be prepared to pay $5 and higher.

A NEW EATING PLACE scheduled to make its appearance on the San Anselmo section of the Miracle Mile at Sequoia Avenue within two or three months will be called Derwienerschnitzel.

This will be located between the east and west bound lanes in, I'm told. A red-roofed A-frame building will be constructed and Derwienerschnitzel will specialize in hot dogs at 15 cents each. There will also be some variations on the usual theme at slightly higher prices. Open hours will be from 10 a.m. to midnight through the week and to 3 a.m. on weekends.

The organization has 103 franchised establishments in California and is headquartered in Torrance. I understand this one does not yet have a franchisee. James Rice at 1123 West Carson Street, Torrance is the franchise director.

THE NEWLY OPENED H. C. Salt Esq. Authentic Fish and Chips Shoppe in the Montecito Plaza addition to the Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael has tables for lunch service facing on the water side — right across the canal from Dominic's. Hours here are from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and from 4 to 9 p.m.

MIZ BROWN'S—the restaurant scheduled for the Consumer Coup complex in Corte Madera—will now have its opening delayed until early summer, I'm told, although the market will be open long before that. The restaurant is in the second construction phase of the center.

BACK ON FOURTH STREET

After an absence of more than four years from downtown San Rafael, popular kitchen masters Joe and Al Louie have a new food domain at the recently opened Quan Lin of Marin at 535 Fourth Street. For many years they prepared the food at the 751 Club which closed to make way for the Kaehler-Farrar Building. Until a few weeks ago they were at Black Point Inn.

NORVELL GILLESPIE
Will design fair

Spanish Theme Selected For Marin's Fair

The theme of the 1967 Marin Art and Garden Fair will be "Fiesta Verano de California," according to Mrs. Marcelle B. McCoy, manager of the annual Ross event.

The feel of this year's event, she said, will be one of early California in the days of the dons, the missions and the haciendas. The theme will call attention to our Spanish heritage and help salute the 150th anniversary of Mission San Rafael in 1817.

Fiesta Verano de California will open at 6 p.m. on June 30 and run through July 4.

Norvell Gillespie of Berkeley, television personality and garden authority, and his staff will design this year's Marin County Fair. He said, he hopes "to capture the excitement of early California by means of dazzling masses of colorful blooms and a design in keeping with the romantic era of the past."

Gillespie was the first garden editor of Sunset Magazine and is now western garden editor of Better Homes and Gardens.

Patrol Cuts Accidents On Hwy. 50

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A steady increase in traffic accidents on U.S. 50, between Placerville and the Nevada state line, has been reversed by a special traffic enforcement project known as "Operation 500," Harold W. Sullivan, commissioner of the California Highway Patrol, announced.

Enforcement applied on the entire roadway to obtain the decrease virtually doubled. Patrol officers spent 53,510 "on view" hours in 1966 on the section of highway, as compared to 25,984 in 1965. During the year, they made 16,200 arrests on the stretch, as compared to 8200 in 1965.

Statistics kept on the project showed a marked decrease in the numbers of property damage and injury accidents on U.S. 50 during 1966, although there was an increase in the number of fatal accidents. The over-all decrease was 21 per cent from 1965 to 1966.

The decrease came despite a 6 per cent increase in accidents statewide, following the addition of 21 traffic officers to the Placerville area to participate in the project.

Specifically, there were only 242 injury accidents on the affected roadway during 1966, as compared to 316 on 1965. There were 305 property damage accidents in 1966, down from 387 in 1965. Fatal accidents increased from seven to 13, making the over-all accident reduction 150.

The U.S. 50 results were the first under "Operation 500" on a full year's program. Since that started, similar additions of men have been made along U.S. 101 from Marin County to Gilroy, on I-80, from San Francisco to Appian Way in Contra Costa County, and on Nimitz Freeway, from its junction with I-80 to the Santa Cruz County line.

FIFTY YEARS TOGETHER — Mr. and Mrs. Harold Marple of San Rafael look over some mementoes of their Golden Wedding, which they are celebrating today. (Independent-Journal photo)

Couple Wed Fifty Years To Celebrate

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Marple of San Rafael, active in hobbies and clubwork, mark their 50th wedding anniversary today.

A family party is set for tonight at Sabella's Restaurant in Alto. The couple, who live at 33 Stevens Place, then will take a short vacation.

The Marples enjoy fraternal work and like to keep active at home. Mrs. Marple belongs to Fairfax Chapter 595, Order of Eastern Star; Tamalpais Temple 129, Pythian Sisters; Golden Star of Rebekah, Lodge 112, and Genessee Council 180, Degree of Pocahantas, both San Rafael.

Marple, a retired house painter, is a member of Fairfax Lodge 556, Free and Accepted Masons, and Islam Temple of Shrine, San Francisco. He enjoys gardening and fishing. Mrs. Marple is a knitting enthusiast.

Married in Wheeling, W. Va., the couple moved to San Rafael in 1947.

Addition Approved To Fire Station

The Kentfield Fire District Commission last night agreed to add a 600 square foot office to plans for the new Kentfield fire station, for lease as a Marin County sheriff's sub-station.

The commision estimated the office addition would cost about $20,000.

Drake High To Split Fall Freshman Class

By KIM EVJEL

Drake High School Student

A split-session schedule for next year's freshman class will solve Sir Francis Drake High School's over-capacity enrollment problem for at least one year, according to Principal Harold Allison.

Unable to add more facilities to the crowded campus, and rejecting relocation of Drake students to Redwood is impractical, the administration decided on the split schedule as a temporary solution until a new school can be built in the San Geronimo Valley, Allison said.

The split schedule, a variation of the system employed in 1956 before Redwood was opened, calls for a 10-period day, with 50-minute classes.

The freshman class will be divided into halves, each half attending either the first or last five periods of the school day, and forfeiting study halls. The remainder of the student body will attend the usual six classes per day.

Allison pointed out that a split schedule will present problems. Participants in before — or after — school activities, especially freshmen, will suffer, as no student will be allowed on campus at any other than his appointed class time.

Families containing more than one high school student will have to adjust to a fairly complex schedule. Also, when the system was formerly employed, parents and neighbors complained about students running free in the middle of the day.

Drug Suspects Ask Dismissal

Contra Costa Superior Court Judge Thomas McBride yesterdya set a hearing for March 10 on a motion to dismiss charges against three Walnut Creek men said to have been suppliers of marijuana and other drugs to Marin County high school students.

The accused are Oliver Dyer-Bennet, 23; Alan Read Turner, 21, and Scott Allen Mayer.

At the time of their arrest last month in Walnut Creek, Marin Sheriff's Deputy Charles Prandi said Turner and Meyer had been visiting Marin schools, taking orders for drugs and marijuana and later making deliveries of these items supplied by Dyer-Bennet. Prandi said arrest of the three followed tips furnished by Marin teen-agers.

Storer To Talk Memorial Day

Marin County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer will be the speaker at Memorial Day services in front of the Courthouse in San Rafael, May 30.

At a meeting of the Marin County Veterans and Auxiliaries Memorial Day Committee Tuesday, newly elected chairman Aubrey E. Mahaney invited representatives of all veterans organizations and auxiliaries to the next meeting March 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the courthosue.

Other committee officers elected were: Co-chairman, Alfred T. Little; secretary, Irvin F. Blabon; program, Henry A. Gareis; grounds, Edison Lawrence; parade marshall, George Scherba; flowers, George W. Hall and Jerry Moon, and finance, James V. Burdick.

Sleepy Hollow Plans Committee

Officers and directors of Sleepy Hollow Homes Association last night went a stage further toward forming a governmental affairs committee.

Last night's meeting was devoted to hammering out details for presentation at the March 2 meeting at 8 p.m. in the clubhouse, reported Herbert A. Brauner, president of the association.

The new committee, Brauner has stated, is to be "the eyes and ears of the association in matters affecting Sleepy Hollow."

SCENIC BACKDROP

Distinct Quality Of Fairfax Cited

By FRANK FARRARA

Fairfax, favored by a scenic backdrop of wooded ridges and dotted with open vistas, should seek to preserve its links with its natural environment.

This was among the messages presented to city officials and residents last night by members of the Marin County Planning Department.

SCHOOL SITES

At the second in a series of meetings on the Fairfax General Plan, planners talked about school sites, parks and recreation, neighborhood patterns, and community design and appearances.

Residents were told that their city has some "plumbing" problems—sewer lines and storm drainage—but their natural setting—is "a distict quality."

Fairfax at the edge of the commute area is now "non-urban and non-suburban," said planner Darryl Coneybeare. When it is closer to San Francisco "in time" there will be a threat to its wooded background and a threat to its quality, he said.

One of the city's positive aspects is the mixture of usage and building forms that shows strong individual expression, he said, "but there is a lack of anything of architectural significance."

OPEN SPACES

Fairfax which borders open spaces of Marin Municipal Water District and Boy Scouts of America, "is a launching pad to outdoors" and should "reinforce its contact with its environment," Coneybeare contended.

Albert Solnit, chief of advance planning, said that Fairfax has flood control and sewer problems, but "good plumbing" is not a key factor in determining the desirablilty of a community as a place to live.

In a recent survey in the Bay Area, most people listed Marin County as their first choice as a place to live he said. "It also got the most votes as second choice and the most votes as third choice."

Ninety-one per cent of Marin residents picked Marin as their first choice, while elsewhere the percentage of those listing their home county as first choice was much lower, Solnit said.

Planner Edward Inskeep said that Fairfax would need no additional school site to accommodate its ultimate elementary and junior high school enrollment of 1,900, but that the White Hill site eventually would have both an elementary and junior high school.

WATER SUPPLY

The city's water supply is good, but there is insufficient water pressure in older, hill areas, and small, sub-standard water lines that should be replaced, he said.

Inskeep predicted that eventually the city fire department will serve a wider area, particularly to the west, and indicated that the plan calls for a second fire station at Olema Drive and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The sewage collection system in Fairfax "is virtually to capacity," and a "couple of areas still have septic tanks," he noted, calling for a major program to upgrade the sewer system.

Planner Rowland Darnell said San Anselmo Creek needs to be cleaned out and Deer Park Creek needs an underground structure for about one-half mile to its junction with San Anselmo Creek.

The plan shows two reservoirs, one on Boy Scout property and one above the Circle V. Ranch.

Planner Walter Horchler outlined the proposed park plan, and urged that the city park, with its redwood trees, should not be "surrendered completely" to a variety of uses.

He said that the "Piombo Estate" of Rockridge Road would be an ideal site for a city park and indicated several areas that could serve as neighborhood parks or play areas.

REGIONAL PARK

Horcher also pointed out that there are plans for a regional park in the Phoenix Lake-Deer Park area, along Fairfax's southern boundary.

The next session on the plan will be April 12 at 7:30 p.m. at the Fairfax Women's Club for a "follow up" discussion on items covered in the first two sessions. The central business district plan is scheduled to be discussed April 25. Final recommendations from the county are not slated until late this year.

Another Competes For West Point

Eugene A. Smith III of Novato has been added to the list of nominees who will try for appointment to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, announced that Smith fills a nomination made vacant when an earlier nominee disqualified himself.

Smith will compete with five other youths from the First Congressional District for appointment to West Point. He lives at 8 Drakewood Lane, Novato.

Repair Contract

Marin General Foundation Seats Greene

Dr. Wilson P. Goddard of Mill Valley, has been elected president of the board of Marin General Hospital Foundation to replace the late A. Crawford Greene.

At a special meeting in the hospital Wednesday, the trustees also named A. Crawford Greene Jr. to replace his father on the seven-man board.

Dr. Goddard is a former president of the Marin General Hospital District, which operates Marin General Hospital, and has also served as chief of staff of the hospital.

Other trustees present at the meeting included Kenneth K. Bechtel and Allan Sproul of Kentfield; Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. of Tiburon, and Mrs. William Kent Jr. of San Francisco. Norman B. Livermore Jr. of San Rafael, was unable to attend because of his duties in Sacramento as a member of Governor Reagan's administration.

The Marin General Hospital Foundation is a non-profit corporation organized to originate fund development programs and to administer trust and endowment funds for Marin General. The foundation was organized about a year ago, and plans to use its funds for the growth and maintenance of the hospital.

Model Home Looted Of $560 In Furniture

About $560 worth of furniture was stolen sometime during the past month from a model home at 19 Sandalwood Court, San Rafael, police were told yesterday.

William J. Wisenberg of Kenney Homes Inc., San Leandro, said he believed the theft occurred while the house was open and unoccupied during a lunch hour.

TOMALES BUSING? NOT NECESSARILY

Board President Says Bond Failure Might Not Mean School At Point Reyes

By ROBERT STREBEIGH

Defeat of the Tomales High School District's $900,000 bond issue to replace its present unsafe building would not necessarily lead to busing of students to schools in other districts, district board president Louise N. Passalacqua said yesterday.

Neither would it increase the chances of building a new schoolhouse in Point Reyes Station instead of at Tomales, Mrs. Passalacqua said.

IN REPLY

The board president's statement was in reply to two factions in the southern part of the district which are working together, though for different reasons, to defeat the bond issue in the Feb. 28 election.

One group believes that defeat of the bond issue would allow time to work for location of the school at Point Reyes Station, the geographical center of the district, and not as now planned at Tomales, the population center.

The other group hopes defeat would lead to permanent closing of the high school and busing students to other districts where it believes stronger educational programs are available.

The latter group pins this hope on a declaration by the board some time ago, that should the bond issue fail even to win a simple majority, the Tomales school would be closed. (Two-thirds majority is required for passage.)

The declaration on closing the school and busing is "not entirely that out and out," Mrs. Passalacqua said.

AN ALTERNATIVE

The present school building, declared unsafe under earthquake standards of the Field Act of 1933, will be closed, Mrs. Passalacqua said, "but we would try to find another alternative" to busing.

The board, the president said, is unanimous in its determination to keep a high school in the Tomales district and will look into the possibility of renting portables if the bond issue fails.

The board is equally unanimous in its determination that any high school in the district, whether in portable classrooms or in a bond-financed new building, shall be located at or near Tomales, according to Mrs. Passelacqua.

The controversy over location may lead to the fielding of opposition candidates for the board positions held by Joseph Tremari of Bloomfield and Richard Velloza Jr. of Point Reyes Station, both of which expire this year.

The West Marin Citizens Committee for Better Education which favors a Point Reyes Station site, is seeking candidates to oppose Tremari and Velloza, should they run for re-election, according to committee member Stella Philipscheck of Inverness.

'NOT REPRESENTED'

Mrs. Philipscheck said, "A great many of the people in the southern part of the school district feel they have not been represented on the present board."

Neither of the incumbents nor any opposition candadate has yet filed for the trustee election to be held April 18.

Theft Of Coat

Theft of a $150 coat from her unlocked car was reported yesterday to Mill Valley police by Mrs. Janet I. Bart, 151 Kipling Drive. The coat was taken Wednesday night, she said, while her car was parked in her driveway.

Clergymen Rap Vintner Over Union Pact

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Vintner A. Perelli-Minetti and Sons yesterday met severe criticism from a group of clergymen for aligning with the Teamsters Union "without reference to the wishes of the workers."

The clergy, including two bishops, accused the grower of signing a "sweetheart" agreement with the teamsters and of failing to respond to a letter from three clergymen seeking arbitration in the vineyard workers dispute.

BISHOP SURPRISED

Episcopal Bishop C. Kilmer Myers said he was "surprised that the teamsters

WATERFRONT FLEET FADES

Crab Boats Idled; Trucks Supplying San Franciscans

By STEPHEN COOK

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The fleet of little crab boats from Fisherman's Wharf has been replaced by a fleet of trucks.

A dearth of crabs in the waters outside San Francisco Bay keeps only a few boats busy during the seven and one-half month season.

Crab consumed at Fisherman's Wharf is just as fresh, but now it is trucked in overnight from more abundant crab fields at Eureka, Crescent City and sometimes as far north as Brookings, Ore.

Mario Alioto of the F. Alioto Fish Co. at the wharf recalled the day when there were 120 boats in the San Francisco crab fleet "and they'd go out every day."

"We used to limit the number they could bring in, just so our company could handle the catch. Now there's just a dribble coming in from the San Francisco area. Almost all of them come from Eureka. Not even 5 per cent of the crabs are local."

State Department of Fish and Game statistics tell the same story. During the 1960-61 season, 2.3 million pounds of crab were caught in the San Francisco area.

The take "probably won't go over 300,000 pounds this season," says Peter Cordier, biologist with the department. The catch in Eureka this year will probably be close to 5 million pounds, he estimates.

Alioto said only about 40 of the 100 boats now in the San Francisco fleet are still going out for crabs. Cordier said his figures show only about three boats out of San Francisco, plus seven from other harbors are fishing the San Francisco area.

On the peak day of the 1960-61 crab season, there were 224 boats out here Cordier said. On the peak day of this season there were only 60 or 70 boats fishing the same area.

"The catch seems to drop about half every year," Cordier said.

The tourist who visits Fisherman's Wharf today is liable to find boats adorned with "for sale" signs.

"The old timers, who never did anything but crab fishing, just sit around and talk about the good old days. They've put their boats for sale. Some have moved to the Eureka or Crescent City areas," said Cordier.

Alioto said he does not know why San Francisco's crab catch has fallen off, "but something has happened to the grounds out there."

"Every year we've been getting less and less. If you can't make a living at it, you've got to get out of the business."

Richard L. Poole of the Fish and Game Department said he does not know the reason for the crab shortage either, but he is making tests to determine the effect of industrial and agricultural wastes on crabs.

There is a note of promise for San Francisco's fleet, though.

Some San Francisco area crab fishermen, who continued to go out this season, occasionally made large catches of smaller crabs, Cordier recalled.

"Maybe this means the crabs are coming back," he said.

Restaurant Porter Says Pay Too Low

A 24-year-old Puerto Rican, who can neither read nor write, became the "owner" of a cleaning business soon after going to work as a porter at Sally Stanford's Valhalla restaurant in Sausalito.

Manuel Viruet of San Francisco, told deputy state labor commissioner Leo Ryan at the Marin Civic Center today that he was told to endorse his checks "Manuel Viruet cleaning ing service."

Viruet, speaking through his attorney, Carlos C. La Roche of San Francisco, said he was paid only $12 a shift, with six shifts a week and no pay for overtime on the sixth shift, from Oct. 12, 1965, to March 15, 1966. He claimed $610 was due him because the union pay is $15.55 a shift with time and one-half for overtime.

Valhalla manager Shirley Goldstein denied telling Viruet that he had to endorse the checks as they were made out —to the Manuel Viruet Cleaning Service.

Manuel Ybarra, assistant manager of the restaurant, testified that Viruet wanted to go into business for himself and sought money to buy a truck, but Viruet countered that he had no driver's license, no car, and did not know how to drive.

Priest Intends To Break Vows

LONDON (AP)—Rev. Arnold McMahon, the Roman Catholic priest who challenged the church's laws on birth control two years ago, said today he intends to break his vows by marrying.

His bride will be an American girl, also a Roman Catholic. Father McMahon declined to name her.

He said he realized his marriage would mean his automatic excommunication and that his bride would "suffer the same penalties as myself."

But he added: "I would like it to be a religious marriage. How we can achieve this I still have to find out. I still consider myself a member of the Roman Catholic Church."

Viet Civilian Plan Snagged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has held up at least temporarily a move by the Defense Department to place American civilians in Vietnam under military jurisdiction, sources said today.

Informants said the State and Defense departments looked at the issue from differing points of view. Newsmen stationed in Vietnam already were protesting the policy.

Earlier this week Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance and U.S. officials in Saigon said American armed forces, not the government of South Vietnam, had legal authority over U.S. civilians working under military auspices.

Peace Corps Duty Starts For Marinite

Daniel Nicholas DeWilde, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. DeWilde of 135 South Ridgewood Road, Kentfield, began a two-year adventure last week.

A Peace Corps volunteer, DeWilde left for an assignment in India's southern state of Andhra Pradesh. He and 59 fellow volunteers wil be working with the Indian state's department of agriculture extension programs for intensive vegetable production, hybrid seed production and plant protection, the Peace Corps announced in Washington.

DeWilde who, according to his mother, is interested both in folk music and eastern culture, took along his folk guitar and a tape recorder to gather a record of the new people he will meet.

DeWilde is a graduate (English major) of Haverford College, a Quaker school, and took his master's degree in communications at Stanford University. During his two years at Stanford, he also worked as an affiliate therapist in the psychiatric department at Stanford, working with boys of junior high school age, his mother said.

"He's wanted to join the Peace Corps ever since President Kennedy announced it," Mrs. DeWilde said. "It was some effort for us to get him to complete his schooling, but we did it."

Young DeWilde's group took 12 weeks of intensive training at Fresno State College to prepare for their assignment in India. Studies included the Telugu language, spoken by the 30 million people of Andhra Pradesh, Indian culure, and agricultural extension methods.

Oregon Holds Percell On Gun Charge

Harold Leroy Percell, wanted in Marin County for probation violation, has been indicted by a Lane County Grand Jury in Oregon for possession of a revolver by a convicted felon.

John Moore, assistant district attorney there, told Marin Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales yesterday that Percell will be arraigned on the felony charge there Monday.

Conviction could mean a one-to-five-year prison term, Moore said.

Percell, a key prosecution witness last year in the Marin murder trial of Mark S. Osuna and Jack R. Gorman, was given six months in county jail, then placed on three years probation for the Aug. 30, 1965, armed robbery of Rudy's Liquors in San Rafael.

An arrest warant for probation violation was issued last Nov. 30 after he failed to report to his probation officer. He was arrested earlier this month in Eugene, Ore., after he showed off a pistol while having his picture taken there in a coin-operated photo machine.

Bales said extradition proceedings to return him to Marin County will depend on outcome of the felony case in Oregon.

Two Youths Booked For Pre-Dawn Stroll

San Rafael police arrested two San Rafael youths found walking along Francisco Boulevard in front of the Bermuda Palms Motel at 5:30 a.m. today.

Bruce C. Lee, 22, of 15 Marin Court, was booked for contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile companion, 17, who in turn was booked at Marin Junvenile Hall for curfew violation.

Housewife's Rings Lost To 'Reader'

A 49-year-old Kentfield housewife reported to sheriff's officers yesterday that she has been deprived of four gold rings and $7.50 cash by Madam Lola, a Kentfield fortune-teller.

Mrs. Mary Emily Chinn of 25 Cedar Avenue told deputies she went to the residence of Madam Lola, also known as Maria Madonna Williams, at 925 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard last Tuesday to seek information about a lost object.

She said she paid Madam Lola seven silver dollars and a half-dollar, and at the fortune teller's request, gave her two rings to complete the reading.

Mrs. Chinn said Madam Lola kept the rings, saying she would go to Mrs. Chinn's home the following day for more reading. She arrived, according to the complaint, the reading resumed, and she gave Madam Lola two more rings "to aid in the reading."

She said when Madam Lola proposed that Mrs. Chinn return yesterday with a tomato, a handkerchief, and "some silver money," she became suspicious. She telephoned sheriff's officers instead.

Sheriff's officers said they have been investigating the legality of Madam Lola's operation for several days. Asst. Dist. Atty. Leonard Shaw said a complaint may be issued for violation of a Marin County ordinance prohibiting fortune-telling.

State Staff Cool To Phone Change

Objections to Novato's participation in a toll-free telephone zone with San Rafael, raised Tuesday, by the staff of the State Public Utilities Commission at a hearing in San Francisco, were not absolute, a commission spokesman said today.

Ermet Macario, commission senior utilities engineer, said the staff would not object to the phone company offering such a service to Novato subscribers on a voluntary basis.

Macrio said objections to the rates jointly proposed by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. and western California Telephone Co. were based on estimates of annual losses of $200,000 by PT&T and $100,000 by Western California. These, Macario said, the companies might be tempted to make up by charging higher rates to subscribers in other districts.

Fund For Lema's Son Is Offered

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Golfer Tony Lema's first wife has been offered $20,000 on behalf of their 5-year-old son out of Lema's $400,000 estate.

Lema was killed in a plane crash July 24 at Munster, Ind. His second wife, Betty, died with him.

Under terms of the will the golfer's estate goes to his mother, Mrs. Clotilde Lema of San Leandro.

The first wife, now Mrs. Shirley Kozy of Foster City, San Mateo County, said today she probably will accept the settlement on behalf of their son, David Anthony Lema.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Most U.S. Farm Accidents Related To The Machinery

VAN DELLEN

Every month I browse through several hundred medical journals looking for the new and unusual. An article in the British Journal of Industrial Medicine had an intriguing title: Accident Prevention in the Cowshed. An Israeli author reported on accidents in two agricultural settlements in the Haifa area. The accident rate was 10 times higher in the collective farm which had a small cowshed of faulty design.

No accidents were caused by farming machinery. Twenty-two of the cowshed mishaps happened while the animals were being fed. Eight occurred while milking. The animals knocked down the dairy worker with the head or a thrust with the horns. Some workers were crushed against the walls or kicked by a cow. One milking maid sustained an eye injury by the sudden snap of the tail.

THERE WERE NO protective appliances at the settlement having the most accidents. The farmers used out-dated and dangerous methods of cattle handling. At the safer collective settlement, contact between man and animal was eliminated.

Farming is a hazardous occupation. Most of the trouble stems from the farmer who is careless with his equipment and animals. Ignorance, human error, and sheer folly play a role. Safety devices are removed and children are allowed to come close to tractors and machines.

FARM ACCIDENTS in this country usually stem from overturned tractors. No farm is complete without this machine but the equipment is dangerous when working on sidehills, along rivers, and ditches and on rocky ground. Roll over bars to prevent overturning are available, but these often are removed by the farmer.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

TV IS SOPORIFIC

Mrs. M. writes: I can go from 6 a.m. until bedtime and not feel tired but just let me look at TV or go to a movie and off to sleep I go. It isn't that I' bored because I've been waiting to see these programs. I am very nervous and have an ulcer.

REPLY

The program must have a relaxing effect if you fall asleep. Apparently you are tired after a day of work. I assume you are not taking sedatives for the nervousness.

ALLERGY AND EDEMA

G. R. Y. writes: Are the symptoms of allergy the same as those of edema?

REPLY

Some forms of allergy such as hives on the skin and angioneurotic edema cause puffiness of the face and other tissues. This edema is not so massive as that which develops in the legs, thighs, and abdomen in victims of heart disease or the leg swelling in elephantiasis and milk leg.

ALCOHOL EFFECTS

F. P. writes: Two of my friends, both in their sixties, have high blood pressure. One takes cocktails to relax —the other says alcohol increases her blood pressure. Who is right?

REPLY

The effects of alcohol vary considerably. It lowers the blood pressure of some and increases it in others. In the majority, there is no change in the reading.

MISSED PERIOD

A. G. writes: If a woman misses one period does she ovulate the following month?

REPLY

Yes, if she is not pregnant or in the change of life.

Kennedy Autopsy Report Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kennedy autopsy: Rep. Theodore R. Kupferman, R-N.Y., wants the White House to help him gain access to Xrays and photographs from the autopsy of President John F. Kennedy.

In a letter to President Johnson yesterday, Kupferman said the material he wants to examine is in the National Archives but is shown only to persons who obtain permission from the Kennedy family.

Kupferman said the continuing dispute over whether there was more than one assassin might be lessened if the surviving medical evidence could be examined. The X-rays and photographs, he noted, were not available to the Warren commission when it investigated the murder of the President.

Military Serial Numbers Are Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — It sure won't seem like the "old Army" — this new Pentagon policy of replacing military serial numbers with Social Security numbers.

But that's the way it's going to be. Starting July 1, all of the services will begin substituting Social Security numbers for the military serial numbers which have traditionally been given men as they entered uniform.

Department of Defense officials said yesterday the new system will be more compatible with a pay system that will rely on computers.

Most youths entering the service will have had a Social Security number obtained in civilian life. In cases where an inductee doesn't already have one, the military will give him one.

Tie Rod Breaks

Willie B. Hector, 49, of San Francisco suffered minor injuries yesterday at 7:40 p.m. on Waldo grade when the tie-rod of his southbound car broke and the vehicle skidded across three lanes and hit the center wall of the Waldo tunnel, California Highway Patrol reported. He refused hospitalization.

Buy Bonds where you work.

He does.

This American has a couple of interesting jobs: he comforts lonely, frightened kids and he fights the enemies of freedom. He has also volunteered for another task. He helps his country pay the price that freedom costs by investing every month in U.S. Savings Bonds (as do most of his buddies in service.) Would you like to show this man you're with him? Buy Savings Bonds where you bank, or join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. You'll walk a bit taller.

Actress Weds Hair Stylist

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Actress Beverly Adams and London hair stylist Vidal Sassoon were married last night in a brief civil ceremony.

The marriage was the first for the 21-year-old actress, who plays the role of Dean Martin's sexy secretary in the Matt Helm movie series. She and Sassoon, 29, met last November in London when she went to his salon after finishing a movie with Jack Palance.

Sassoon, designer of a short-clipped geometric hair style which has been the rage for several years, had been married to his London receptionist, Elaine Wood.

Eartha Kitt Forfeits Bond

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A $25 cash bond posted for singer Eartha Kitt Feb. 8 has been forfeited.

Miss Kitt, then appearing in a Houston private club, was charged with failing to move on as she sought to aid a heart attack victim in the lobby of a downtown apartment building.

The bond was automatically forfeited yesterday when she did not appear to answer the charge, said Chief Corporation Court Judge J. D. Guyon.

Miss Kitt presently is appearing in Indianapolis.

Takes Out Papers

San Rafael Planning Commissioner John A. Miskimen, who announced his candidacy for the San Rafael City Council Tuesday, took out papers for verification deputies yesterday from the office of City Clerk W. C. Cornwell.

Dumke Likes Legislative Financing

SACRAMENTO (AP)—California's 19 state colleges should be endowed with "a sense of permanence" by being mentioned in the state constitution—like the University of California already is — contends state college Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke.

But Dumke told a Constitutional Revision Commission committee yesterday that he favors retention of financial control by the legislature.

The matter was raised when someone asked the chancellor whether state college trustees should have the power to decide on tuition, as recommended by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Now the legislature holds the tuition purse strings over state colleges, although regents have that power in the case of U.C. It is one of the legal differences between the two systems—U.C. with its nine campuses, state colleges with more than twice as many.

Dumke said a constitutional mention of the colleges would provide "a sense of permanence, a sort of status symbol in that it measures the respect in which it is held by the citizens of the state."

Film Director Reported Wed

ROME (AP) — Film director Michelangelo Antonioni was reported today to have been secretly married to blonde Italian actress Monica Vitti, the leading lady in many of his films.

The newspaper Momento Sera said the two were wed while Antonioni was filming "Blowup" in England last year.

Neither Miss Vitti, 31, nor Antonioni, 54, could be reached for comment. She has never before been married. He obtained a Vatican annulment of his first marriage in 1965.

Mark Hopkins Hotel Purchased By Loew Chain

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Mark Hopkins Hotel on San Francisco's Nob Hill has been purchased by a subsidiary of the Loew Theater chain, it was announced today.

The acquisition was announced by Laurence Alan Tisch, president of Loew's Hotels. Price was not disclosed.

Loew's owns and operates 12 major hotels and motor inns in New York, Puerto Rico, Florida and Chicago.

Students Given Tax Break News

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service sent posters to more than 1,000 high schools in Northern California today telling students they may have refunds coming from the tax withheld from their pay.

The IRS warned students they could get the money only if they file an income tax return.

IRS estimated that the average high school student who works summers is throwing away about $70 by failing to file a return.

Returns do not have to be filed on earnings of less than $600 a year. However, if students who earned less than $600 do not file, they do not get a refund.

Control Board Member Named

SACRAMENTO (P) — Gov. Reagan named Vernon W. Cartwright of Sacramento yesterday as a member of the State Board of Control.

Cartwright, head of a Sacramento aerial survey firm, is a 44-year-old Republican. He replaces Earl Warren Jr., a Democrat and son of the U.S. chief justice.

The post carries no salary. Cartwright will serve with the director of General Services and the State Controller. The board handles a number of technical duties involving state employees and hears certain claims against the state.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Hurray For Phrase 'Generally Correct'

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —The position of many network executives regarding television ratings is that although they may not be wholly accurate, they give a generally correct report on how shows are doing.

This sort of respectable lunacy counds reasonably logical when explained dispassionately by an intelligent network executive in a tailored suit behind a handsome desk. Away from such heady influences, however, one is unendingly astounded at how such huge corporations can base their moves on "generally correct" data —until one realizes that, after all, television is basically a checkered vest business, covered slightly by gray flannel suits.

To comprehend the genuinely nonsensical attitude of depending on ratings that are not wholly accurate but may be generally correct, imagine how it would be if your local newspaper adopted a similar position in reporting the day's events. Imagine how it would be if you picked up a paper that was satisfied with being only fairly exact, and you read stories like the following:

Washington — President Johnson today announced a tax increase of six per cent. Or naybe it was five. On the other hand, possibly it could have been seven."

"South Bend—Notre Dame and Michigan State today played to a 17-17 tie in a game that was to have settled the mythical national football championship. Some Notre Dame rooters, however, claimed the final score was actually 18-17, with the Irish winning, while a number of Michigan State fans maintained that the Spartans won 19-18."

"Chicago—Six gangsters were rubbed out with howitzers by members of another mob on or about Valentine's Day. A survey of one group of witnesses indicated that the killings took place the day before Valentine's day. But another survey of other witnesses seemed to suggest that the shootings occurred the day after. The six gangsters, however, are definitely rubbed out."

"San Francisco — A lone San Francisco resident was heard today to utter what sounded like a complimentary remark about Los Angeles on a downtown street. Several persons on the scene, friends of the resident, claimed the remark only sounded complimentary. Others, however, maintained it actually was. All parties agreed, though, that the resident did definitely mention Los Angeles. He was taken into custody."

LBJ's Consumer Proposals Heading For Some Trouble

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Swift congressional action seemed assured today on at least two of President Johnson's 10 "consumer protection" proposals, but some of the others may be in for trouble.

The Chief Executive outlined a broad program in a lengthy special message to Congress yesterday. Much of its was aimed at protecting consumers from fraudulent money lending practices, substandard medical tests and massive power blackouts.

He called for 10 specific legislative items and urged the lawmakers also to examine honesty in the sales of mutual funds and the reliability of the nation's power grids.

Of the 10, Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., of the Senate Commerce Committee has already introduced two—a natural gas pipeline safety bill and legislation to set up a national commission on product safety.

The pipeline bill would set standards for construction of the lines, which carry highly flammable gas under high pressure.

The product safety commission would review safety features of ordinary household appliances and other items able to cause injury if they are of faulty construction.

Since Magnuson's committee held investigative hearings on both measures last year, all that remained were possible legislative hearings before the bills were cleared for Senate action.

Johnson's renewed demand for a "truth-in-lending" bill to require that the cost of buying products on credit be disclosed "fully, simply and clearly" may run into trouble, however.

A similar bill, the major goal of former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., has been bottled up in the Senate Banking Committee for years.

Pike Predicts More Disorder To Viet Draft

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) —Bishop James A. Pike, formerly head of the California Episcopal Diocese said yesterday the nation will face increasing resistance from youths ordered to fight in Vietnam.

Pike said some students view participation in the Vietnam war as "murder and they prefer the penitentiary to killing."

He likened the situation to the Nuremberg and Tokyo war crimes trials, following World War II. He noted that the result of the trials was a ruling that conscience should be placed ahead of orders.

If the war isn't settled in the next year, Pike said, an increasing number of university students are going to refuse to fight. He said this was the impression he got at visits to numerous campuses.

Sanction Ordered For Federation Meet

NEW YORK (AP) — Theodore Kheel's sports arbitration panel ordered the U.S. Track and Field Federation today to apply at once for a retractive sanction by the AAU of last week's controversial meet and the AAU to grant the sanction.

This action would immediately restore some half dozen athletes for competition in the New York Athletic Club meet tonight in Madison Square Garden and other AAU events.

The order, announced by Kheel at a press conference, appeared to be a victory for the AAU in its long standing battle with NCAA for track and field power.

There was no immediate reaction from the warring parties.

Kheel, in a three-page typewritten statement, said under a moratorium that was agreed upon in June, 1966, open competition was subject to sanction by the AAU.

This moratorium applied to foreign athletes participating in the United States, the statement added.

Kheel's statement said that it was contrary to the spirit of the moratorium and the best interests of amateur sports for the USTFF to hold a meet in New York and it did a week ago, without seeking a ruling from the panel as to whether the meet was actually closed.

In a slap at the AAU, Kheel's statement said that it also should have consulted the panel before suspending the foreign athletes.

These events, Kheel added, unnecessarily deprived the panel of the chance to determine if the meet was open or closed.

Kheel said the panel will arrange immediately for the two parties to present their final arguments on the basis of the record made to date and shall render a final decision in 60 days.

The AAU contends that as the American sanctioning agent for the International Track and Field Federation it must approve meets in which foreign athletes compete.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association contends that as collegians they fall under the province of the colleges and no outside sanction is necessary.

Giant Man Makes Statistical Comparison Of Juan And Sandy

HANLEY

Art Santo Domingo has just completed a statistical study of the records of Sandy Koufax and Juan Marichal, prompting the statistician of the Giants to several conclusions which undoubtedly will be rejected by Dodger fans.

"SANDY," ACKNOWLEDGES Santo Domingo, "was fantastic for four seasons but in the long run Marichal will prove to be the better pitcher, another Warren Spahn, who went on for years as a top pitcher.

"Marichal will surpass Koufax in everything except strikeouts before he reaches his 12th season, the number of years Koufax spent with the Dodgers.

"IT'S POSSIBLE JUAN will pass Sandy's total wins and shutouts in the next two seasons. Juan trails in career wins 130 to 165, in shutouts 30 to 40. It's amazing what Juan has accomplished in 6½ seasons.

'He has won 21 or more games in each of the last four seasons. Koufax won 20 or more in only three seasons. Marichal is the first pitcher in either league to put four 20-game seasons together since Spahn won 20 or more from 1956 to 1961.

"ALSO JUAN IS THE only pitcher in the majors to have beaten every club in the National League at least once in each of the last five seasons, a tribute to his consistency and ability to whip all teams.

"In addition, Marichal has the best career ERA (2.66) of any starter in baseball. In contrast, Koufax retired with a career ERA of 2.76. Sandy's career winning percentage is .655 (165 wins, 87 losses) as compared with Marichal's current .691 (130 wins, 58 losses), the best percentage among all active major league pitchers.

"IN THE HISTORY of baseball only Whitey Ford and Bob Caruthers, a pitcher in the 1890s, with identical winning percentages of .696, had higher marks than Marichal's .691.

"Before 1963 Koufax had a mediocre record. In the last four seasons he was fantastic, winning 97 and losing 34. Over the same four seasons Marichal won 93 and lost 35, just slightly under Koufax.

"IN A COMPARISON OF their careers Marichal has the contest hands down. At the same stage in Sandy's career that Juan is at now, Koufax had a record of 54-46 which, of course, can't compare with Marichal's current 130-58 mark."

The final conclusion reached by Santo Domingo wouldn't cause any argument between Koufax and Marichal adherents.

"JUAN HAS SANDY beaten by a landslide in another department—hitting," said Santo Domingo. "Juan hit .250 last season, drove in 15 runs and won a game with a ninth-inning homer off Roy Face of Pittsburgh."

Even the most ardent admirers of the great Dodger southpaw acknowledge he was a notoriously poor hitter. So they concede the hitting edge to Marichal.

SOMEWHAT NOSTAGICALLY SANTO Domingo wound up his statistical study of the Koufax-Marichal records.

"It's a shame that Sandy was forced to retire with an arthritic arm because it was a good argument whether he or Juan was best," said Santo Domingo. "Now there can be no argument."

Key MCAL Game On Bucs' Court

By GARY TISCHLER

What a difference a month can make.

The date: Jan. 20. The place: Tamalpais High School. The Indians had just brushed off defending champion Drake, 49-47, to take command in the Marin County Athletic League basketball race. One week later, they had completed their first-half schedule with a perfect 6-0 record, one game ahead of the Pirates and seemed poised to sweep to the title.

Tonight at 8:15 the Indians will be fighting for their lives when they meet a revenge-minded Drake five again this time at Drake, in what is a "must" game for Tamalpais.

It could assure the Pirates of at least a title tie.

REDWOOD WAITS

Meanwhile, Redwood waits hopefully in the wings needing another victory against Marin Catholic at Redwood tonight to keep alive in the race.

In another league clash tonight, Terra Linda and San Rafael face off in a high-pitched rivalry at San Rafael, with the Bulldogs looking for revenge for a 78-45 pasting suffered at the hands of the Trojans in Terra Linda earlier in the season.

Novato hosts Cardinal Newman in a non-league game.

A Drake victory would assure the Pirates of a tie for its second straight title, needing only one win in its next two outings against Redwood or Marin Catholic to win it outright. A Tamalpais defeat would leave the Indians a full two games behind the Pirates, hoping for a miracle.

An Indian victory could play right into coach Bernie Schneider's hands. The Indians have by far the easiest remaining schedule of the three contenders, with games against Terra Linda and Novato. It would leave the Indians tied for the league lead.

OUTSIDE CHANCE

Redwood, which has an outside crack at the title, will have to be hoping for a Tam win, although with gritted teeth. The Giants have a shot at Drake in addition to its game against Marin Catholic tonight. They are 7-3 in league play, only a half game out of the league lead.

The Indians, however, will have to regain their first-half composure to topple the Pirates. Since the midway break, Tamalpais has only a win over Marin Catholic in league play, while dropping close decisions to San Rafael and Redwood.

Drake has been unbeaten since the break, taking nothing for granted.

The Indians topped Drake in heir first meeting on the strength of a super-performance by junior center Pat Schafer and the inability of Drake to get balanced scoring or any kind of free throw shooting.

GETTING HELP

Since then, center Jerry Sprout has gotten considerable help from Chet Carlisle and Karl Stein. Carlisle has upped his average in league play to 15.5 And the Pirates have been working on their free throw shooting.

Schafer will have to come up with an ace in the hole to battle Sprout on even terms again. He has been outplayed on the boards in both of Tam's losses and was held to two points against Redwood.

Steve Woodward has been the mainstay of the Tam attack throughout the season. The senior guard is second in league scoring behind Terra Linda's Fred Smith with a 17.7 scoring average.

Schafer still holds a 13.3 average to Sprouts 13.4 scoring pace.

Over-all, the Pirates are 15-5 on the season while Tam, with a slow practice season start, has a 10-10 mark. The Indians are doing better offensively, scoring at a 59.3 clip per game, to Drake's 55.2 while the Pirates hold the defensive edge, allowing 43.3 points per game to Tam's 49.0 showing.

DIFFERENCE

The fact that this is practically a do-or-die contest for Tamalpais may make a difference in the game. But whether it will hurt or help the Indians is another question.

"I think it will make a difference," Schnieder said. "The boys know that they have to win this one. I think it will help us."

"The pressure will be on them," Drake coach Carl Brown said. "We're not slacking off by any means. In fact, I think this has been a big thing with us. We haven't overlooked anybody and we're certainly not overlooking this one."

Marin Tars Host Napa Tonight

College of Marin's basketball team gets its second chance in four days to clinch no less than a tie for the Western Division title of the Golden Valley Conference . . . against the same quintet.

Marin, which dropped a 95-84 decision to Napa Junior College last Tuesday night, will take on the Chiefs again tonight, this time at Kentfield, 8:30.

En route to its leading 8-4 western division record, Marin has had its troubles against zone defenses. Napa used the zpne and forced the Tars into a slow, ball-control type of game, and rushed to a lopsided 34-18 halftime bulge before the Mariners rallied with a fine second-half spurt and outscored the Northerners 66-61, yet short of the desired result. Napa ranks third in the Western Division.

Marin was fresh off an 80-78 overtime upset of Eastern Division pacer Sierra going into the scrap but was "flatter than a pancake," according to coach Cal Reimcke.

Reimcke, meanwhile, has had time to think about shaking up his line-up for tonight's clash.

The Tar mentor, who has been starting with as many as three guards, says he might start with just one big man and "four little guys this time," in an effort to further utilize pressure defense tactics and pick up the tempo.

Stalwart guards Bill Pandiani and Russ Smith, who tallied 22 and 24 points respectively in the last outing, may be flanked by guards Russ Williams and Bob Phillips. Jumping-Jack Ken Blasingame will possibly start at center to carry the rebounding load.

Forwards Terry Overlid and Tom Stetson will also be available for the crucial skirmish, though both Stetson and Overlid performed below par Tuesday, held to nine and seven points in order.

But Marin will also have to put the wraps on Napa's high-scoring trio of Stan Wieper, George Lambrecht and Gordon Reese, who combined for 73 points in their home court victory.

A preliminary basketball game will be held between the Tar alumni cagers of the 1950s and the grads of the 60s. That game is scheduled to start at 6:30 p.m.

Palmer Leads Courtney By A Stroke In Tucson Open

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) —Chuck Courtney went into today's second round of the $60,000 Tucson Open golf tourney one stroke behind Arnold Palmer while taking putting lessons along the way.

Courtney, who finished with a five-under-par 67 in the gathering darkness yesterday, says he owes his good showing to Bob Charles, tour veteran from Christchurch, New Zealand.

"I don't care if he three-putts every green," said Courtney, tour regular from La Jolla, Calif., "as far as I'm concerned he's the best putter on the tour."

Courtney, 26, playing in the same threesome as Charles, said he had been having toruble with his putting and watching Charles stroke the ball on the greens helped his game.

OBSERVER

"Just watching him come through the ball made me realize I was using too much left hand and it helped my concentration, said Courtney, who three-putted only one green.

That three-putt green came on the final hole and knocked Courtney out of a chance for a tie with Palmer and gave him his only bogie of the day.

Up to that point, Courtney sank putts of 20, 20, 15, 12 and 24 feet in gaining six birdies.

Courtney finished in a three-way tie for second with Bruce Crampton of Sidney, Australia, and Joel Goldstrand of Worthington, Minn., who survived a qualifying round playoff to make the Tucson Open.

Palmer, who sat out last week's Phoenix Open, found the Tucson National Golf Club course, a 7,200-yard par 36-36—72 desert layout, to his liking.

He missed only one green and used unerring approach shots to the large, multi-level greens and a fine putting touch to register seven birdies and only a single bogie.

On the 13th and 14th holes, his iron shots to the green hit the flag one time and the pin on the other, allowing him to hole out birdie putts on each hole.

"MY BEST START"

"This is my best score on a starting round this year," said Palmer, who captured the Los Angeles Open last month with three straight sub-par closing rounds.

Others with a good shot at the $12,000 top money as play began today were Randy Glover, all alone at four-under-par 68, and five others bunched at 69, including Charles, the winner here two years ago.

Generally the other pros were finding the huge greens easy to hit, too, but otherwise misleading.

"They are soft and really biting on approach shots," said Joe Campbell, the 1966 Tucson Open winner who finished the first 18 holes at two-under 70.

Winds of up to 25 miles per hour were forecast for yesterday's opening round but didn't arrive. They were expected again today. If so, most of the players agree that scores will soar at the wide open course.

Barry Pumps In 52 Points To Lead Warriors To Win

FRESNO (AP) — For Rick Barry, there's no place like home, no matter where it is.

The leading scorer in the National Basketball Association poured in 52 points last night while pacing the San Francisco Warriors past the Chicago Bulls 125-124 at the Fresno Auditorium.

In Oakland — another San Francisco "home" court—Barry scored 50 points Tuesday night. The Warriors, still the Western Division lead, hope to get more out of their super-star in their next home engagement—in Phoenix tomorrow night against the Boston Celtics.

Barry scored the last seven points for the Warriors, including three free throws that broke a 122-122 tie and gave San Francisco the game.

Bob Boozer was high for Chicago with 22 points.

Indoor Net Tourney To Start Tomorrow

Billie Jean Moffitt King, trying to win a quarter-final match today at the National Women's Indoor Tennis Championships, heads the entry list in the Pacific Coast Tennis Championships which starts tomorrow in San Rafael.

Mrs. King, No. 1 ranking women's singles tennis ace, is favorite to win the National Championships at Winchester, Mass., and will join participants at San Rafael's Pacific Coast Indoor Tennis Club, in the Northgate Industrial Park, after Sunday's final day of the National Championships. She was to meet Stephanie DeFina in a key quarter-final match today and tennis fans will keep check on what happens on the plastic grass at Winchester.

The surface at the Winchester Tennis Center plays somewhat like clay, and Miss DFina, from Hollywood, Fla., is very good on slow surfaces. Mrs. King, from Long Beach, is the defending titlist.

The big upset in yesterday's opening play came when Cecelia Martinez, a 19-year-old sophomore at San Francisco State, upset former champion Mary Ann Eisel of St Louis 6-2, 8-6. Only two days before, third seeded Miss Eisel beat Mrs. King to win the New England indoor title.

Miss Martinez, who along with Kristy Pigeon of Danvile may accompany Billie Jean to the Pacific Coast event, became the only unseeded player in the quarter-finals.

California's newly opened Pacific Coast Indoor Tennis Club is sanctioned by the Northern California Tennis Association and is the state's only private indoor net club. It will play host to players from all over the Bay Area with matches set to start at 5 p.m. on weekdays and 9 a.m., on weekends.

Men's singles and doubles and women's singles will be scheduled throughout the tournament, which will be governed by rules and regulations of the United States Lawn Tennis Association. The tourney runs through Feb. 26.

Cal And Stanford Have Home Court Games This Time

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Advantages of home basketball courts go under direct scrutiny this weekend in the Pacific-8 with little change of a repeat of the outcomes a week ago when the home clubs won all eight games.

Big difference this time finds Lew Alcindor and the undefeated UCLA Bruins visiting Oregon tonight and Oregon State on Saturday night and strong favorites in each of these outings.

In Los Angeles a week ago, the Bruins whipped OSU 76-44 and Oregon 100-66 to remain the nation's No. 1 collegiate basketball force.

For all clubs this time, it's the same opponents on different sites which makes for the direct comparisons of home court advantages. Teams in Oregon host those from Los Angeles while Washington and Washington State visit the San Francisco Bay Area to battle California and Stanford.

California plays host to Washington State's second place Cougars tonight and then entertains Washington tomorrow afternoon in the regionally televised game. Stanford first meets Washington and then WSU.

Cal's Rene Herrerias considers his Russ Critchfield and Charlie Perkins as the finest pair of guards in the college game today and to remain hot, the Huskies must stop the duo.

Critchfield has averaged 23 points in conference play, second only to UCLA's Alcindor who has 24.3. Critchfield, however, stands but 5 feet 10 inches compared with the 7-1 Bruin Sophomore star.

After a slow start, Coach Marv Harshman's Washington State crew has battled into second place and last weekend beat Cal 75-67 and Stanford 82-58, making it six straight victories. Ray Stein and Lenny Allen are assigned the job of stopping Critchfield and Perkins.

Jim McKean leads the Cougars in scoring with 18.7 per game.

Washington has also won six straight, the Huskies' longest basketball victory string in eight years. They beat California 85-80 despite 54 points for the Critchfield-Perkins combine.

Alcindor gains most of the acclaim, but nobody in the league forgets the Uclans also have another sophomore, Lucius Allen, among the leaders.

The 6-2 guard from Kansas City averages 17.7 points and has hit 51 of his 91 field goal attempts.

Alcindor leads the rebounders with 87 followed by Washington State's McKean with 76.

ONE PUTT, TWO SEVENS AND A BIRDIE

Two-Mile Features Golden Gate Meet

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gerry Lindgren could push Australia's Ron Clarke to a new world indoor two-mile record tonight or he could erase Clarke's record.

"Gerry is capable of breaking the record," admitted the Aussie who has practically rewritten the list of marks for races of two miles and longer.

They'll duel in the 5th annual Golden Gate Invitational meet at the Cow Palace where the entry this week of great miler Jim Grelle enhances the allure of the race.

Grelle has beaten Clarke at two miles outdoors although he's best known as a man with a tremendous kick in racing a mile.

SQUABBLE

The two-mile features a meet which has been caught in the midst of the latest squabbling between the AAU and the NCAA.

Christos Papanicolaou, a Greek exchange student attending San Jose, has been suspended by the AAU for competing in the United States Track and Field Federation meet at New York last week.

The USTFF meet did not have AAU sanction and the latter claims foreigners may not compete in events which do not have this sanction.

Athletic director Bob Bronzan of San Jose said the school does not differentiate between students and indicated a possibility the Spartans may skip the Golden Gate meet if Papanicolaou cannot vault.

"From an institutional point of view, we object to an organization not collegiately oriented telling us who can represent us," Bronzan explained.

"If we hold Papanicolaou out, in a sense we have agreed at least tacitly with the AAU position. If we don't allow anyone to compete, we are punishing the boys."

TOP ATTRACTION

While the feud continued ,the two-mile stood far and away as the feature attraction of the Golden Gate, a meet which does have the AAU sanction.

A year ago, Clarke predicted he'd set a record in the meet and he did it with a time of 8:28.8 for the two miles.

Lindgren raced to an 8:31.6 just two weeks ago in Seattle compared with the 8:41.8 which won for Clarke a week ago in Los Angeles.

The 130-pound Washington State University star has been a San Francisco favorite since winning a high school race in 1964, the same year when he later went on to beat the Russians at 10,000 meters for the biggest surprise of the track season.

Record NBA Playoff Purse— $280,000 Pool

NEW YORK (AP) — A record $280,000 will be split among teams making the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The playoffs, which will start no later than March 22, according to NBA President Water Kennedy, have a money pool of $100,000 more than last year.

Also to be won is $17,500 for the team finishing first in each diviison and $5,000 for the team with the highest percentage average at the end of the season. Each team finishing second in its division gets $10,000 and third-place finishers get $5,000.

First-round playoffs will involve first and third-place teams and second and fourth teams in each division. The winners will meet to establish divisional champions who will meet in the championship series.

Sign-Ups Set For Softball

Sign-ups are now being accepted by the San Rafael Recreation Department for its 1967 Spring Softball League.

Arthur Ashe Breezes Into Net Semi-Finals

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — The way Arthur Ashe has been playing tennis lately, he scares not only his opponents but himself as well.

"I know I can't play this well forever, but I don't think I would have lost to anyone tonight," the nation's top ranking amateur said yesterday after overpowering young Bob Lutz, 6-2, 6-1 in the quarter-finals of the U.S. Indoor Tennis Championships.

"I never played two better sets in my life," said Ashe, who disposed of Lutz in 48 minutes of near-perfect tennis. "It scares me.' '

"I put new strings in my racket Wednesday and when I went out to play doubles, I was serving out of my mind," he said. "I hit everything so solidly.

"I may lose it all suddenly but I'm going to enjoy it until Saturday. Then I'll get nervous again."

Ashe's next match will be tomorrow against Cliff Richey, who struggled for 2 hours and 37 minutes yesterday before eliminating Marty Riessen 13-11, 3-6, 10-8.

TWO MATCHES TONIGHT

Two more quarter-final matches will be played tonight to decide the final members of the all-American semifinal round. All 27 foreign entries in the original 40-men draw were eliminated by the end of Wednesday's third round.

For Ashe, seeded No. 2 behind defending champion Charles Pasarell, this is his farthest advance in the Natonal Indoors. But he has been playing top tennis for the past month.

He reached the finals in his last two grass court tournaments during a recent Australian tour and in two indoor tourneys since returning home.

Ashe defeated Pasarell, his former teammate at UCLA, to win the Philadelphia Indoor last weekend, but the Puerto Rican defeated Ashe in his hometown of Richmond, Va., the previous week.

Lutz, a 19-year-old from Los Angeles, scored only seven points off Ashe's booming service and was passed almost every time he tried to rush the net.

LONG SET

The first set of the Richey-Riessen marathon required 70 minutes. There were nine service breaks, three in a row after Richey had taken a 3-1 lead and four straight starting with the 13th game. Richey broke through for the last time in the 23rd game and then held his own service to close out the set.

There was only one service break in each of the last two sets. The final one by Richey came with only about 500 persons remaining from the original crowd of 3,200.

Riessen held off two match points in the 12th game, while trailing 15-40 on his own service, and two more in the final game under similar circumstances before Richey ended the marathon.

Defending champions Stan Smith of Pasadena and Lutz, seeded No. 1, were upset in the doubles quarter-finals, 6-3, 6-4, by Ron Holmberg of Baytown, Tex., and Torben Ulrich of Denmark.

Jose Louis Arilla and Manuel Orantes of Spain also reached the semifinals by defeating Thomaz Koch and Edison Mandarino of Brazil 6-2, 6-8, 16-14.

Shipes To Fight Lester In March

OAKLAND (AP)—California's welterweight champion Charley Snipes will fight San Francisco middleweight Jimmy Lester on March 8 at the Oakland Auditorium, promoter Jimmy Cosenza announced yesterday.

Snipes, recognized in California as the world 147-pound champion, knocked out Percy Manning of Philadelphia in his latest fight.

Lester, who has slipped from the middlewight rankings, must make 156 pounds for the 10-round bout or forfeit 10 per cent of his purse.

North Coast Wrestlers Vie Tomorrow

It's time to run the "Ben Hur" of high school wrestling, the three-ring circus of matdom tomorrow.

The 1967 North Coast Section, Division I, Wrestling Tournament will be held at Novato High School tomorrow with a cast of hundreds. Forty teams from five athletic conferences will be represented among 195 wrestlers who will be competing in 260 matches on five mats for the course of an entire day with time out for lunch.

The top prizes are team trophies and a one-way ticket to the Northern California meet in Sacramento next week for the top finalists in each weight division.

Marin County entrants Novato, Tamalpais, Redwood, Terra Linda and San Rafael will be represented by the top three finishers in each weight class at the Marin County Athletic League Meet held last week.

The meet kicks off at 10 a.m. with preliminary matches on five mats and will run through 6 p.m. It will resume for championship finals and consolation finals at 8 p.m. Separate tickets for each session cost $1 each for adults and 50 cents for students with student identification cards.

Other conferences in addition to the MCAL will include Hayward, North Central, Mission Valley, and Alameda conferences.

Included in that lineup are such wrestling powers as Canyon, winner of the Tamalpais Invitational Tournament, Clear Lake, Richmond and Berkeley.

Unbeaten Novato will have to be considered a better than fair bet to take the title.

"I think our chances are pretty good," Hornet coach Ralph Cutler said. "I wouldn't make any predictions now. In this kind of a tournament, so many things hinge on little things, such as making weight, illness, injury or the draw. I think Canyon should be pretty strong. We've already beaten Berkeley and Richmond in dual meets."

The Hornets have 17 wrestlers in the tournament, followed by Tamalpais with nine, Terra Linda with seven, Redwood with four and San Rafael with one.

MCAL wrestlers in North Coast Sectional:

98 Pounds—Ken and Kirt Donaldson, Novato; Steve Castano, Tamalpais.

106—Rod Hall, Novato; Harry Pelequin, Tamalpais; Pete Scannel, Terra Linda.

115—Mike Costano, Tamalpais; Steve Collins, Novato; Tod Fogarty, Redwood.

Ski Event To Aid U.S. Team

Competition for the big Thunderbird Trophy Feb. 26 at Boreal Ridge near Lake Tahoe has been officially designated as a benefit for the United States Ski Team Fund.

Teams of four skiers will clash for the giant trophy donated by the Hayward ski firm of Whittlesey-Powers, with the winning team determined by the aggregate of the four individual times. One dollar of the $5.50 entry fee, which includes the all-day lift ticket, goes toward sending the U.S. team to the 1966 Winter Olympics in Grenoble, France.

Members of the Bay Area Council of ski clubs will set a gentle giant slalom course for the competition — which is open only to non-racers or those with Class C race cards.

Beverly Anderson Brockway, a former U.S. Olympic ski great, will forerun the course.

The Thunderbird Trophy team race was created four years ago by Grats Powers, a prominent figure in skiing and a partner in Whittlesey-Powers.

Skiers interested in forming a team can write to Thunderbird Team Trophy Race, c/o Whittlesey-Powers, 23850 Clawiter Road, Hayward. Entry blanks may also be obtained at Boreal Ridge.

NEW YORK (AP) — Charles (Red) Ruffing, the newest member of baseball's Hall of Fame, advocates the automatic placing in the sport's shrine of all those who've played in the big leagues 20 or more years.

"You have to be doing something to play in the majors for 20 years," said the New York Yankee pitching great of the 1930s and 40s after being named to the Hall yesterday in a special run-off election.

"I'd like to see a rule like that and also that no one can be elected who does not have a lifetime batting average of at least .300 and, for pitchers, those who didn't win at least 200 games," Ruffing added.

Ruffing, now 61, won 273 big league games, including 231 with the Yanks for whom he pitched for 15 years. He was with the Boston Red Sox for the first seven years of his major league career and finished up with one season in 1947 with the Chicago White Sox.

Among the non-Hall of Famers who played big league ball for a minimum of 20 years are Stan Musial, Jimmy Dykes, Phil Cavaretta, Bobo Newsom, Mel Harder and Joe Judge. Musial has been retired for three seasons and will not be eligible for election for another two years.

Ruffing received 266 votes of the 306 ballots cast by members of the Baseball Writers Association of America. A total of 230 votes was needed to meet the 75 per cent requirement.

Joe Medwick, former slugging outfielder for the St. Louis Cardinals, was second with 248 votes. However, under the rules for run-off elections, only one man could be elected unless there was a tie for first place. In the original vote last month, Ruffing and Medwick each missed election by a narrow margin of seven votes.

"I hope Medwick makes it the next time," Ruffing said. "He deserves it.

"I also think that Jim Bottomley and Goose Goslin should be in the Hall," he added, referring respectively to the former St. Louis Cards' first baseman and the outfielder who played for Detroit and Washington.

This was Ruffing's last chance to gain the honor under the regular voting procedure. Eligibility ends 20 years after retirement. He would have had to cast his chance for making the Hall of Fame with the old-timers committee, who last month selected Branch Rickey and Lloyd Waner.

The FISHIN' FOOL

Our Old Timer Recalls Some Of His Fish Catching Stories

STEVENS

After receiving a release from the 32nd North American Wildlife and Natural Resources Conference which is scheduled to be held at the San Francisco Hilton, March 13-15, (to which, incidentally, all interested persons or groups are invited) I phoned four local hunters of deer, moose and other big game I asked if they knew how the famous Boone and Crockett Club arrived at the specifics for trophy size, antlers, skulls and horns, thereby listing the same in the record books. "Do you know how to properly measure horns, antlers, skulls and net weight of trophy animals?" I asked each of them. I received several different answers, none of which was correct.

AS A RESULT of this apparent lack of knowledge, I am suggesting today, that each sportsmen's club arrange to send at least one member to the Ballroom of the San Francisco Hilton Hotel to witness a demonstration of just how the Boone and Crockett Club scores the specifics. The free demonstration will be held Sunday afternoon, March 12, at 4 p.m.

YESTERDAY, I mentioned the actual catching of large fish in Pinas Bay, by patrons of the Club de Pesca de Panama. This morning a reader called to ask if I could announce the longest time spent in landing a Black Marlin. Sorry, but I don't have the answer. I hung onto a hammerhead shark I hooked in the Gulf Stream outside the heads at Miami, Florida, for about four hours—only to finally lose it, but I know that is not record time to play a big fish.

I do know, however, that one sports fisherman held on to a Black Marlin for 9½ hours. Ken Snyder of the South Bend Tackle Company told me he hooked a huge Sea Bass off the California coast just at it was getting dark. The next morning everyone aboard the boat saw the big fellow calmly feed near the surface — still hooked. Ken said he merely cut the line and quit for the day.

I HOOKED A steelhead at the Dairy Hole on the Garcia one frosty evening some years ago. My line got fouled in the branches of a bush at the water's edge. My line broke, and as it was getting dark, I left the spot. The following morning at sunup, I was back again at the Dairy Hole. I noticed a small branch bobbing up and down, I crawled over the brush and managed to get hold of my line which has parted the evening before . . . You've probably guessed—it was my line, and my fish still alive and kicking. The play of that small branch took up the jerks and pulls by the fish so that 12 hours later he was still alive.

ALL THOSE incidents were baby plays compared to the pumping and reeling and releasing line for the lad who did battle for nine and a half hours with a Black Marlin.

There are still a few seats available aboard one of the sports-salmon fleet. Latest rumors have it there are plenty salmon outside the Gate and they are all set to grab an anchovy or artificial. Here's hoping you get yours.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Enlisted Combat Pay Not Taxable

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

Combat pay of enlisted personnel in the armed forces is not taxed. The first $500 per month of pay received by commissioned officers while serving in a combat zone is not taxed. This means our men who are serving in Vietnam or are hospitalized as a result of wounds, disease or injury incurred while serving in Vietnam or any other area designated a combat zone by the President are not taxed on their pay.

Wikel

This is true only if active service is performed in a combat zone during an induction period. The pay is not taxed whether or not it is received outside the combat zone or while the recipient is hospitalized but in a year different from that which the service was rendered for which the compensation is paid. Service are performed in a combat zone only if it is a zone which the President of the United States has designated by his Executive Order as an area in which the armed forces of the United States are, or have, engaged in combat and only if it is performed on or after the date of such Presidential Order.

Any individual serving in a combat zone or who is hospitalized outside the state of the Union and the District of Columbia as a result of injury received while serving in a combat zone has an automatic extension of time until he gets back to the United States, plus 180 days, in which to file any tax return that may be due.

However, the working wife of a service man may want to file a joint return with her husband and secure a refund for some of her income tax withheld from her pay check. In order to do this, she may have difficulty in getting her husband's signature on the tax return.

Her husband, busy chasing the Viet Cong, is not too readily available for signing tax returns. Therefore, the Internal Revenue Service has announced that tax refunds due Vietnam service men and their wives will not be delayed because of a missing signature on a joint return.

Any wife of a member of the Armed Forces on duty in Vietnam need only indicate in a space provided on the tax return for her husband's signature that he is serving in Vietnam and therefore she cannot get his signature and the return will be processed immediately.

Market Slips For Third Straight Day

NEW YORK (AP) -- Losers outnumbered gainers at the close of the stock market today.

It was the third straight day of decline, emphasizing the market's February correction of the January advance.

NEW YORK (AP) — Losers continued to outnumber gainers on the stock market late this afternoon as the list seemed headed for its third straight session of decline. Trading was active.

Volume for the first four hours was 6.09 million shares compared with 6.27 million yesterday.

The market was irregularly lower from the start but blue chips held their own fairly well although losing ground on balance. The more speculative recent gainers were the worst losers early in the session. Later in the day, however, there was a partial recovery.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

CHRYSLER CORP. directors have declared a dividend of 50 cents per share of common stock, payable March 7. Sales of Chrysler and consolidated subsidiaries in 1966 were a record 5.6 billion dollars—up from 5.3 billion in 1965. But net earnings were down to 189.2 million from 233.4 million dollars in 1965. Per share earnings dropped to $4.16 from $5.44. The company's share of the U.S. passenger car market increased to 16.7 per cent of all sales of American models, compared with 15.7 per cent in 1965.

GOODYEAR TIRE AND RUBBER CO. sales and earnings rose to their highest levels in 1966. Sales of 2.475 billion dollars compared with 2.226 billion during the previous year. Net income rose from $3.05 a share in 1965 to $3.31 in 1966. A quarterly dividend increase in the third quarter of 1966 established a new annual rate of $1.35 a share.

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO. has reported consolidated sales during 1966 of 1.785 billion dollars — highest in the company's history and 5.4 per cent greater than in 1965. LENNEN AND NEWELL, INC. international advertising agency with billings in excess of 100 million dollars, has acquired the San Francisco firm of Richardson and Hance, Inc. and has appointed its president, George R. Richardson, to the post of senior vice president for the Pacific region. His former partner Harrison H. Hance will also move to Lennen and Newell as account supervisor.

Broker-Dealer License Revoked

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission yesterday revoked the broker-dealer license of Bonnie Carol Gardner, doing business as Gardner and Co., a stocks, bond and mutual fund brokerage firm, at 74 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley.

The commission also barred David B. Gardner, her husband, from association with brokers or dealers, with the stipulation that after six months they may re-register and associate themselves with a registered broker-dealer if the commission is satisfied their activities will be supervised adequately.

The Gardners agreed to the conditions without admitting or denying the charges against them.

The commission said Mrs. Gardner, aided by her husband, made false and misleading statements in application for broker-dealer registration, violated the net capital provisions of the law, and failed to keep proper books.

INVESTING

Averaging Down Not Always Best

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I bought 100 shares of American Electronics on the American Exchange at $5 a share. I would like to buy another 100 shares to average down. Do you think this is a wise thing to do?" G. F.

A. I am sorry to say that I do not. You bought a speculative stock in a small company with a poor past record and an uncertain future. American Electronics Inc. (not to be confused with American Electronics Lab., OTC, discussed here earlier) is tied to the competitive aerospace business and has few major customers. The company has operated in red ink all but one of the past several years and had a deficit in the first 9 months of 1966.

Averaging down is a very appealing practice but it should only be done when there is reasonable assurance that a stock is only temporarily depressed. I do not believe that your stock is a good turnaround candidate. Buying more shares merely because the price has dropped might be throwing good money after bad.

Q. "You make it seem certain that investing in stocks is the right thing to do. I bought Atlas Corp., U.S. Steel, and Blaw-Knox at much higher prices because they were growth stocks. Where did I go wrong?" G. M.

A. If you will permit me to say so, I have never indicated that investment in stocks is an exact science. I have very frequently pointed out here that the one thing certain about stocks is that they fluctuate, sometimes very widely.

Where you went wrong, I believe, is in buying shares that never were considered growth stocks by informed investment men. In recent years, Atlas has been largely a speculation in uranium. Big Steel and Blaw-Knox are, and always have been, cyclical issues. A growth stock should have demonstrated the ability over a period of years to increase its earnings, dividends and price at a faster rate than the economy as a whole. Get someone to show you the figures on American Home Products and I think you'll see what I mean.

Amend, But Don't Kill All Fair Housing Laws

"The party of Lincoln cannot long endure unless it remains an active and effective participant in the battle to achieve equal human rights for all."

With this statement, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, announced his intention to sponsor a legislative package calling for fair housing laws and improvements in the apprenticeship programs for minority groups and compensatory education.

His main bill calls for a complete revamping of the Rumford Housing Act to make it more workable and acceptable to the public.

To all fair-minded citizens, Assemblyman Bagley's proposal should be preferable to outright repeal of all housing laws designed to prevent discrimination. It takes into account the public's overwhelming expression of opposition to the Rumford Act in the 1964 vote for Proposition 14.

One of the chief arguments used by proponents of Proposition 14 was that an individual homeowner should have the right to rent or sell or refuse to rent or sell to whomever he chooses.

Since this was one of the chief obstacles to public acceptance of the Rumford Act, Bagley's new proposal would exclude single-family homes from the coverage of the housing legislation. However, he intends to retain the non-discrimination protection on housing with at least five or more units.

Bagley's proposal, in effect, would be a revision of the Rumford Act to make the provisions more acceptable, or a replacement of the Rumford Act (if it is repealed) with a new set of fair housing legislation.

An outright repeal of all housing laws, with no replacement, would be a step in the wrong direction.

Just as the owner of property aspires to a freedom of choice in sale or rental, other American citizens aspire to the freedom to buy or rent houses or apartments of their choice.

The proposal to exempt one-family homes from this legislation constitutes a concession to the individual homeowner. The renter and buyer, regardless of race or creed, should at least retain equal opportunity for renting in multiple housing areas, particularly if such housing is publicly financed.

Assemblyman Bagley's proposal to revamp but retain fair housing laws is the practical and constructive approach. An outright repeal of housing laws with no replacement would be a concession to bigotry.

DENTISTS DETECT EMOTIONAL DISTURBANCE

Emotional illness is often first diagnosed in the dentist's chair, according to the report in the Journal of the American Dental Association.

Excessive smoking, grinding of the teeth, pencil chewing and ringing of the ears are some of the symptoms of an emotional disturbance which may itself cause a dental disorder.

A patient wtih an inordinate amount of anxiety will fear even the simplest dental procedures, the report stated. It added that chemical changes in the moisture of the mouth and throat are often indications of emotional trouble.

Signs of such disturbance are noted in one out of 10 patients, and the dentist can often be the first one to spot the real trouble, the report continued.

Show a compassionate solicitude for persons who are emotionally disturbed. As far as you can, help them rise above their problems and put to constructive use the abilities that God has entrusted to each of them.

"Bear one another's burdens, and so you will fulfill the law of Christ." (Galatians 6:2)

Let me be a source of encouragement, O Master, to those who are afflicted in body or spirit.

Is Bill Weissich Being Wooed To Join Shell-Patrick Camp?

By WAT TAKESHITA

Takeshita

JOSEPH SHELL, former assemblyman and 1962 candidate for gubernatorial nomintion, was seen lunching the other day with San Rafael lawyer William O. Weissich.

This has led to speculation that Shell, who has joined William Penn Patrick's cosmetics firm in San Rafael, might be wooing Weissich to join the Shell-Patrick camp.

Such a coalition is not entirely outside the realm of possibility. All three are conservative Republicans.

PATRICK HAS youth (age 36) and ambition, with money to back it up. Shell has joined Patrick's firm, ostensibly as vice president of Holiday Magic but more likely to provide political know-how and mend Patrick's fences for the 1968 race for U.S. Senate.

They could probably use the legal and forensic talents of Weissich, both in the commercial firm and for political campaigns.

But Patrick's chances in 1968 don't look too rosy. He may have already made too many enemies with his stubborn independence and punching style in last year's gubernatorial race.

With brakes being applied to Max Rafferty's hopes for the Senate, it now looks as if next year's race could wind up with Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel as Republican nominee and Sam Yorty of Los Angeles as the Democratic candidate.

MOST OF THE picketing this year is likely to center in Sacramento at the state Capitol, where picketeers are certain to get good television coverage.

Demonstrations against college tuition and budget cuts will be followed by more picketing in behalf of inmates at San Quentin's Death Row.

Demonstrators are practical too. Parading up the Capitol steps or around the Governor's mansion, with TV spotlights on them, beats sitting down on the cold sidewalks in some obscure street corner and running the chance of being ignored completely.

ROSS VALLEY Players' presentation of "Any Wednesday" tomorrow night at the Art and Garden Center Barn in Ross will wind up as a birthday party for Sen. Minority Leader Jack McCarthy, who's just turning 43. The senator's wife, Ursula, plays one of the leading roles in the play.

Do you sometimes wonder how and where you can write your legislators or congressmen?

The League of Women Voters of Central Marin has just published a pamphlet giving all the pertinent information: Names of legislators, how to address the letters and where to mail them. For the cost of postage, you may get copies of the pamphlet by writing to the League at Post Office Box 2174, San Rafael.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Why The Attack On John Musser?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

For 10 years the I-J has been a valuable aid in forming opinions of Marinites and it shakes one's faith in your honesty of reporting to note the apparent animosity you hold for John Musser, of the county clerk's office. In your repeated efforts to discredit him there appears to be little basis for your incrimination and the retraction printed on page 14, Feb. 8, (Obviously to avoid libel) can hardly carry as much weight as the front page indictment in January. This apparent malicious vendetta makes readers much more wary of your criticism and exposure of other, perhaps justified, cases.

Hoping that future reports will be recorded by an unbiased reporter, I remain an interested and appreciative reader of the I-J.

Free Education Is A Must Today

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I have just read Miriam Galliver's tirade against my article. I find in reading her article, it is she who is without fact. She sees a few shiny cars and decides on that surface evaluation, that all students can afford the proposed tuition. She obviously does not know that without tuition the student needs at least $1,750 for books, living expense, etc. This for many is a near impossibility, add the tuition and it is impossible for many students.

Should Reagan's plans be realized 14,000 students will be turned away. How sad and terribly unnecessary. During World II and the depression, tuition was not charged. Now in this affluent time in history it is proposed. Reagan has certainly come a long way since his young loudly "democrat" days.

Reagan was voted in by people wanting a change. Many who regret having voted in such frivolous manner.

The generation of today, is the future of tomorrow, and luckily I'm not the only person upset over this man's absurd actions, concerning the University. Many people who voted for him are sadder and wiser today. He's been hung in effigy all over the state.

You bet I'm complaining about Reagan. Because I care about the future of this great state. But more because I care about the maximum getting an education.

The Actor Can Do 'No' Wrong

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The actor generally reads his lines well; no more than one should expect from a man with considerable experience — if little talent — on the boards.

This, however, is scarcely important. What is important is: Who is writing the script whose speeches the actor speaks, as they are pronounced to him, tripping on the tongue?

The anonymous authors are identified every time the actor opens his mouth — and puts his foot in it: The Yahoos who boosted him onto the stage and are cheering from the wings as he:

Closes welfare centers.

Proposes importation of cheap Mexican labor.

Demands state control of labor union elections.

Insists on cutting the budget of the university and charging tuition for those least able to pay.

Maneuvers—through a board of regents dominated by the wife of a reactionary newspaper editor and a multi-millionaire oilman — to fire the university's president.

Promises tax reduction for property-owners (I am one) and higher taxes of all kinds on the poor.

Asks for legislation to "curb crime" (read, protest demonstrations) and "stamp out pornography" (read, free speech and radical thought).

Promises an "iron hand" in running the greatest state in the land into bankruptcy, reactionism and ridicule.

Accuses his predecessors in office of "looting" — and then says he didn't know the word meant stealing.

Asks state workers to work free on holidays — and then says he merely invited them and wouldn't "coerce" a soul.

Certain positive aspects remain, for there is no action, Sir Isaac Newton said, without an equal and opposite reaction. In the first month of the current Disneyland production at Sacramento, despite his "charm," his bright white teeth and graceful gestures, the actor has managed to attract more vegetables, rotten eggs and dead cats than were ever thrown at his more modest colleagues of the B-pictures.

It is only a matter of time before the majority of the audience starts yelling, "Give him the hook!"

Higher Education Costs Too High

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Some people, deploring the supposed inequity of California's free-educational system which they feel forces taxpayers to support a lot of "Commies" and "beakniks," have gone off half-cocked over Governor Reagan's proposal for tuition at U.C. and the state colleges. Railing about "eliminating frills" or forcing "drifters" to "drop by the wayside," these people lose sight—if they ever had it—of the costs which are incurred by a student in the course of a college education.

The U.C. catalogue conservatively estimates that fees and expenses for the academic year total about $1,850 for a single student living in a university residence hall. These expenses are as much a part of the costs of education as any tuition charges and must be recognized as such. Furthermore, it must be realized that the necessity of a college education is nearing the importance which a high school education previously held in this country.

In light of these circumstances, it would seem that if anything should be done the state should attempt to alleviate the heavy financial burden on the student—not increase it. Certainly part of the proposed tuition fees (one-sixth of the total) are slated to be used for scholarship funds, but it is extremely doubtful that this is enough to subsidize more than a few who are now (even without tuition fees) unable to pay the price of higher education.

In a scientific age as that of today, if there is any such thing as a "sacred cow" it is education—the very foundation of our civilization. The state should—if not in consideration of the welfare of the individual, then in consideration of its own well-being—attempt to further the education of its people and not hinder it.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

SENATORS BOBBY and Teddy Kennedy are not above kidding each other in public addresses—well aware that it brightens their images. Teddy, for example, when recently accepting a plaque for Brother Bobby, who was out of town, told the story of the two brothers who went fishing together one morning. One brother was loaded down with every variety of expensive equipment, the other had only an old pole. Of course, the latter pulled in all the fish.

The next morning the angler who hadn't had so much as a bite, purloined his brother's old pole and tried again. Once again he failed to get a nibble. As he sadly planned to decamp, however, a great big trout stuck his head out of the water and hollered, "Hey, where's your brother?"

FROM THE sayings of Kin Hubbard:

There's only two ways to handle a woman—and nobody knows either of them.

When some fellers decide to retire, nobody knows the difference.

There's two songs that could stand some rewritin': "The Star Spangled Banner" and "Happy Birthday to You"—the first one 'cause nobody kin sing it, the second 'cause everybody kin.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Republicans Coming To LBJ's Rescue On Europe Troop Plan

WASHINGTON—With strong Republican support, an important move is underway in the Senate to rescue the Johnson administration from a pitfall being recklessly dug by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

The pitfall is a deep and gaping peril to the President's emerging policies in Europe and the lure to step into it is Mansfield's proposal that there should be a sharp, immediate, and unilateral slash in U.S. troops assigned to NATO.

In the judgment of the White House, the State Department, the Defense Department, and leading Republicans, this move comes at the wrong time, in the wrong way, and for the wrong reason.

UNFORTUNATELY, Mansfield persists in his pressure for the recall of at least two-thirds of the American forces now in Europe, and on this issue he appears to have the backing of enough Democratic Senators to get his way over the opposition of the Administration — unless blocked by a strong Republican counterstand.

That Republican counterstand is now in the making — and only just in time. It is being led by Sen. Jacob Javits of New York, who has valuable allies in Sens. Thruston Morton of Kentucky, Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, and Robert Griffith of Michigan in lining up both conservative and liberal GOP support.

The Mansfield resolution has been a grave liability to the Administration from the moment it was brought forward last year and re-introduced last month with the endorsement of enough other Democrats to make its passage dangerously likely — unless there are second thoughts in the Senate.

The Javits counter-resolution is beginning to produce second thoughts. Instead of proposing substantial and immediate reduction of U.S. divisions in Europe without consultation, it reaffirms the needs to maintain "substantial U.S. combat forces" in Europe, suggesting at the same time consultations with NATO allies to determine whether redeployment of some American troops could be safely undertaken.

The Republican supporters of the Javits proposal — along with the White House — do not think the U.S. should weaken NATO at the time when its very structure is under attack by General de Gaulle and that any significant redeployment should be justified for military reasons, not for any short-term easing of the balance of payments.

While Javits is rallying Republic support against the Mansfield move to immediately withdraw most of the U.S. troops, Sen. Thomas Dodd of Connecticut is doing the same on the Democratic side. He is proposing an alternative to the Mansfield resolution which closely parallels the Javits resolution.

Dodd does not overstate it when he says that any substantial and unilateral withdrawal of American forces from NATO at the very moment NATO is in process of reorganization would "be as dangerous and unpredictable in its consequences as a hard blow on the head to a man recovering from a bout of double pneumonia."

BOTH SUGGEST that before acting on its own the U.S. ought to join with its allies in reexamining what the total NATO force ought to be and what proporation each country should bear.

This is the view put to President Johnson by Vice Chancellor Willy Brandt of West Germany when he was here recently. Mr. Brandt holds that it is unsafe for Bonn to go very far trying for an East-West detente without clear evidence that the U.S. stands unwaveringly with Western Europe in the common defense.

THIS IS the purpose behind the Javits-Morton initiative and it seems to me that in taking this initiative they are strengthing the GOP in foreign policy and helping the President where he would otherwise be hurt by the top leaders of his own party in the Senate.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

LBJ Seeks Direct Russ Viet Pledge

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Johnson is privately urging Moscow to take joint action with the U. S. to "de-escalate" the Vietnam war. The President is offering a permanent halt in U. S. bombing raids against North Vietnam in exchange for a Russian agreement to stop her flow of arms to Hanoi.

Presented to Premier Kosygin during his recent visit to Great Britain, the U.S. feeler is the first of several new diplomatic moves being undertaken by the President to involve Russia directly in his backstage efforts to obtain a ceasefire in Vietnam.

BRITISH AUTHORITIES, who served as the U.S. courier, reported Kosygin indicated that his government's response would follow further study of the President's offer on his return to Moscow. Congressional leaders, who were briefed on the latest Vietnam peace efforts, revealed that they were told the President's proposal had two distinct purposes.

It was designed to test Soviet leaders' sincerity as Vietnam peacemakers and give them a carrot-stick lever to force North Vietnam officials to accept U.S. offers to go to the conference table.

THE PRESIDENT'S proposal is based on a new estimate by the National Intelligence Board that Russia, as chief arms supplier, has the power and influence to curb North Vietnam's military operations at any time by choking off supplies.

This analysis stresses that a cutoff of Soviet supplies to Hanoi would force a pullback of regular North Vietnam army units from South Vietnam "within six to eight weeks." It contends that Communist China, the No. 2 arms supplier to Hanoi, is unable to increase its help sufficiently to permit the regular North Vietnam divisions to continue to operate.

Significantly, the National Intelligence Board's findings shed interesting new light on how the post-World War II Red-led guerrilla uprising in Greece was ended.

Until recently, when new evidence became available, all U. S. intelligence estimates credited Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito with playing the major role by closing his borders to arms and supplies from Russia for the Greek guerrillas.

AN INSIDE account of what actually happened by Milovan Djilas, former Yugoslavia Vice President released from prison by Tito earlier this year, exposes this intelligence myth.

Smuggled to the U.S. by his friends, Djilas' first-hand report of a secret Kremlin meeting he attended revealed that Stalin made the decision to end the guerrilla uprising after becoming convinced the U.S. would not permit a Communist take-over in Greece.

Intelligence insiders said the Djilas report was cited in the board's report to show the importance Russia's influence can be in ending wars like Vietnam.

Even Bobby Spurns LBJ Bid To Visit North Vietnam Capitol

WASHINGTON — President Lyndon B. Johnson rarely makes a mistake, but when he said recently that he would go anywhere, any time to discuss peace in Vietnam, he really put his foot in it.

Shortly after he made the statement, the North Vietnamese premier, Pham Van Dong, told three western clergymen that if President Johnson really meant what he said, he could bring his wife, his daughters and his staff to his daughter and his staff.

This put the President in a terrible spot. If he refused to go, the North Vietnamese might challenge his credibility. But if he went he might get caught in an American air raid .

THE PRESIDENT decided to stick by his words, so he called his daughter, Luci Nugent, in Austin and said, "Honey, how would you like to go to Hanoi with your mommy and daddy?"

Luci said, "Where?"

"Hanoi, North Vietnam. We've been invited by the premier and he said he wants me to bring the whole family."

"Daddy, I don't know how to tell you this but I'm going to have a baby."

"You always seem to find an excuse every time I ask you to go somewhere," the President said angrily. "Well, never mind. I'll call Lynda."

THE PRESIDENT put in a call to his daughter, Lynda, in New York City. "Hello, Lynda, it's Daddy. Yes, I read your story on college girls in McCall's. It was very good. Everyone here at the White House thought it was wonderful. I didn't find one person who didn't like it, and I made sure to ask everybody. Lynda, dear, how would you like to go to Hanoi with Mother and me?"

Lynda said, "Can George go, too?"

The President said, "How can I ask George to go to North Vietnam when he hasn't even been to South Vietnam?"

"I'll have to ask the editor if I can get the time off," Lynda replied. She came back in a few minutes. "The editor says I haven't worked here long enough to get a vacation."

"BUT THIS IS important to me, honey. Tell him if you can't go, you'll quit."

"All right, honey, I don't want you to do anything to hurt your job. And, Lynda, Mother and I want to thank you for the checks you've been sending every week. We don't know what we'd do without them."

"Forget it, Daddy. What good are parents if you can't support them?"

The President went in to see Mrs. Johnson.

"BIRD, HOW WOULD you like to go on a trip to Hanoi with me next week?"

"I can't. I've got to plant a tree in Albuquerque, and then I have to trim some rose bushes in Tucson, and then I've got to spray some geraniums in Lexington, Ky."

"Can't you cancel the trip? I could find lots of things for you to beautify in Hanoi."

"Oh, Lyndon, I'm ready to go with you anywhere, but you know what Hanoi does to my sinuses."

"Forget I mentioned it," the President sighed .

HE THEN called up his former aide, Jack Valenti, who is now the head of the Motion Picture Producers Association. "Jack, you want to go to Hanoi?"

"I can't Mr. President. I've got a meeting with Sophia Loren and Gina Lollobrigida in Rome."

Finally the President called Sen. Bobby Kennedy. "Bobby, you want to go to Hanoi with me and discuss peace with the North Vietnamese?"

"I'm sorry, Mr. President, I've made it a practice never to get involved in foreign affairs."

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Marin Citizens Didn't Know Of Liens For Waldo Project

Fusselman

"Unjust Attempts to Raid Gate Bridge Reserves." That was the heading of the I-J editorial on Tuesday—"Whenever a public entity begins to accumulate a surplus of funds, you can bet that politicians will lose no time finding a way to raid the nest egg for political advantage." So went the first paragraph.

The editorial had to do with San Francisco Assemblyman John F. Foran's attempt to raid the Golden Gate Bridge tollpayers surplus and funnel it into the state highway construction program.

The editor said, "We can not imagine anything more unjust." He was dead right. This has always been the pattern respecting the relationship between the highway department and the bridge.

WHEN THE Waldo grade had been in use only a very few years it became obvious that it had to be widened for safety as well as convenience. Nevertheless the state department claimed that because of funding limitations, and in spite of the need, they were unable to take care of the requirement.

Strange to say, though, they offered to arrange a loan of state money to the bridge district for the construction. Official delegations called on all boards of supervisors in the bridge district for a vote of endorsement of the loan.

I VOTED AGAINST it, even though I fully recognized the necessity. It seemed to me that if the state had money enough to make the loan, it had money enough to do the work. Some months later I discovered that the state's educational fund surplus was being tapped.

The loan was made and the work was completed by the bridge district. In just a few years more, increase in the traffic volume made necessary a further widening and the boards of supervisors were again appealed to for endorsements.

This time I voted yes, as the terms were that neither loan would have to be repaid until all of the bridge bonds plus interest had been paid off, in 1971.

Now, instead of trying to raid the district surplus, there should be forgiveness of the obligation and if, after paying the bonds off together with interest, there should be a balance left in the bridge coffers it should be refunded to the taxpayers of the counties comprising the district. Their property has been in hock all these years as security for the bonds. (There has been, unknown to many, a lien all along.)

SOME OF YOU may not be aware that the bridge district, also, built the Sausalito lateral with some help from federal funds.

The Bay Bridge is in the highway system and is supported by the gas tax levy we all pay.

Another item on the editorial page flagged my attention Tuesday. It was the last paragraph of an article by Henry C. MacArthur who writes a column on state affairs from Sacramento. He was discussing a recommendation of the State Board of Equalization to tax timber cutting for the benefit of, "California's government, and its counties, cities and special districts."

This was it:

"The proposal is an indication of the present trend in taxation, which is to levy on every thing that possibly can be touched for taxes."

NEXT WEEK I will attempt to show, that by inverse reasoning, the slogans of the many lending agencies can be applied to county government.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By PAUL PETERZELL

Why Crosswalks Were Painted At Early Hour In Mill Valley

In an irate letter last week to the Independent-Journal, a Mill Valley citizen wondered why city crews added to early morning commuters' problems by painting crosswalks on East Blithedale Avenue in rush hour traffic.

I, too, had seen the crews early last week — shortly before 8 a.m., diverting commuters onto a rutted shoulder precariously near a drop into the bay — but the thought that their poor timing might have been due to other than devotion to duty never occurred to me until I read the letter. Once the suggestion of some dark motive was raised, however, my investigative instincts were aroused.

WAS IT THE FINAL solution to the commuter question — to divert them into the bay? Or perhaps the city workers have stock in Greyhound? Or a tire company?

"You'd better ask Ross Benson," said City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer with a smile. He always smiles.

Benson, superintendent of public works, came right out with it. "The men usually start between midnight and 2 a.m. so the paint can dry and not block traffic," he explained, "but the job took about an hour longer than usual that day — when we were rushing to get crosswalks in for school children."

Well, this is the sort of thing reporters look into to fill their time.

THE MILL VALLEY police log shows that residents on Throckmorton Avenue were agitated last weekend at the sight of a tour bus rolling past their homes for a peek at the new library. Mill Valleyans know they live in a beautiful area, but don't like tour buses wandering off main streets. And there are only two main streets.

"It's a compliment to the city," observed the city manager, "that they are willing to come that extra distance to see that nice library." Throckmorton is wide enough for buses, he noted.

Gray Lines in San Francisco said the library is not on its only Marin County tour — to Muir Woods. The bus last week must have been on a wine tour to Sonoma, said a dispatcher.

IF THE LIBRARY does become part of a tour route the city fathers are sure to hear screams from residents of the area. The library has disrupted their tranquility enough without having to bear buses, too, they argue.

Mill Valley School District trustees this week adopted policies spelling out responsibilities of the superintendent and trustees. Most of the policies have been understood in the past, but never spelled out clearly.

AMONG THE BOARD of trustees' responsibilities are: "Refrain from handling directly any administrative details . . . Refrain from any private dealings on school policy matters with any (district employee), to require and receive all reports from them through the superintendent" and to "support the superintendent in his efforts to protect the personnel and the schools from individuals and organizations seeking to exploit the schools for selfish reasons." The policy does not define "selfish reasons."

The superintendent, the policy states, "shall devote a large share of his thought and time to the improvement of instruction . . . keep (the board) well enough informed so as to enable the board to make sound decisions" and "take action according to his best judgement when action is necessary in an area not covered by policy."

Congress Can Create The Park

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In Northern California an irreplaceable original masterwork with the stature of centuries draws much concern.

Once our coast Sequoias reached in primal splendor from Monterey County to Oregon. Other than scattered units, this world-known trust is now reduced to one significant valley. Last valley of its kind is the valley of Redwood Creek, valley of giants.

It is a valley besieged, its redwoods marked for destruction except for a tiny token. About two years of the chainsaws will level the arrow spires and erase this supreme forest. Our congressmen obtained a cessation last September with a one-year deadline. An adequate Redwood National Park, hope of half a century, is now in the balance. Only Congress can complete the rescue, if we let them know.

The mechanized force waits. With letters to Congress we can create the Redwood National Park and this valley will remain serene, sempervirens.

Peace Weapon— Is One Of Love

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re: Jack Hamm's cartoon of Saturday, Jan. 21, 1967.

Who is your god — Adolf Hitler? Or perhaps it is Mars, ancient Greek God of War? Or Tyr, the Norse God of War? It could never be that God of the Bible, for he has said "Thou shall not kill," and your cartoon soldier carries a gun.

Ah-ha — now I see, Your god must be the one in the Bob Dylan song — the one that the Germans ("though they murdered six million, in the ovens they fried") now have on their side. He is the god that Americans have used as a feeble hypocritical excuse for their many wars (taking over Indian lands, the Civil War, the Spanish-American War, World Wars I and II, the Korean War, and now this Vietnam farce).

He is the one where "you don't count the dead, when God's on your side." OK — so don't count the dead, they're gone — they can no longer feel the pain. (They can no longer feel happy either, but we don't think about THAT now will we?), but what about the living who can no longer live a full life? The babies, the children of Vietnam who are scared for life —not just physically but mentally also, what about them?

This strength that your blood thirsty god gives you, what is this strength? It is the strength to murder little children? And yes, that does take strength, because to be able to do what the United States troops are doing in Vietnam, you have to stop thinking, and that takes an awful lot of strength.

I have had my say about your heart-rending cartoon, and now I would like to add — may God give strength to those on the Port Chicago Peace Vigil and may God give strength to Phil Drath, Earle Reynolds, and the others on their Vietnam voyage and may God also give strength to all those people all over the world, fighters for peace whose only weapon is LOVE — for these are the people who know their God, and these are the people who shall be strong.

Why The Delay On School Planning?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I was much interested in the article appearing in your Feb. 7 edition indicating that at its Monday night meeting the Tamalpais High School Board was urged by David D. Ring, candidate for the board, to reconsider its decision made years ago to develop Redwood High School to a capacity of 3,000 students.

At a Tamalpais District board meeting approximately one year ago, following defeat of the last Tam bond issue, the board indicated its intention to restudy this question of high school size. I cannot understand how a year has been permitted to go by without this study even having been commenced, and I commend Mr. Ring for having brought this to public attention.

I also heartily concur in Mr. Ring's recommendation to the board that a citizens committee be appointed immediately to re-study this question. The Tamalpais District has done far too little by way of involving its citizens in the important decision facing the district. This may account, in part, for its poor record at the polls. A "study" of this question by the district board under the careful guidance of its superintendent, who is already committed to the larger high school, is not likely to achieve anything more than a confirmation of the decision that was made years ago.

A decision on the question of proper high school size is one to which the district should give urgent attention, because it cannot expect to successfully proceed with another bond issue until it has made this decision. Two of its high schools are already substantially overcrowded, and it seems to me the public is entitled to know the reasons for the delay on his important question.

Surgery Still Needed At Cal

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Before his recent dismissal by U.C. regents, President Clark Kerr staunchly denied that anything of a subversive, perverse or revolutionary nature was occurring on the Berkeley campus. Facts were contrary, however, and a majority of the regents under Gov. Reagan's leadership finally heard those facts from their heretofore sound-proofed shells and deduced the need for action.

The California Senate 1965 Fact Finding Committee of Un-American Activities stated: "Many of Kerr's most intimate colleagues during his years in government agencies (before coming to U.C.) participated in a wide variety of pro-Communist activities, and some of them came to work at the Berkeley campus after Kerr became its Chancellor." Concerning the conditions at Berkeley in the fall of 1964, the Senate Report added: "At least 23,000 of the 27,500 students at Berkeley who were trying to get an education were subjected to BRAINWASHING IN THEIR CLASSROOMS, were excluded from their classes during the campus-wide strike, were subjected to a barrage of filth and pornography, and their civil rights were not deemed worthy of attention" . . .

Yes, Mr. Kerr has been deposed, but what larger problem remains? Why does a surgeon remove from a patient, all known malignant tissue? Because removal of only part would be absurd and probably occasion the patient's demise. Why then have the regents not completed their surgery of the known U.C. faculty cancer, by cutting away and dismissing all professors and teaching assistants whose pro-Communist views are clearly established? I submit that such action would help to return U.C. campuses to decent places for serious, law-abiding students who seek traditional, constitutional, free-enterprise-oriented Americanist instruction.

Drath's Trip And The Results

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Recently you have printed letters for and against the trip of Phil Drath to provide medical supplies to our enemies. For over five years, the "enemy" has slain, wounded or kidnapped over 37 CIVILIANS (not soldiers) per day.

These medical supplies are obviously going to be used for their fighting men in preference to their "orphaned children."

I submit that humanitarianism, coupled with positive action, but devoid of common sense, is sheer idiocy. It frequently results in the most inhuman consequences. I sincerely hope that his acts will save more lives (theirs) than it takes (ours), but I'm NOT CONVINCED. Fortunately, Mr. Drath will never know.

All Freedoms Are Relative

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I was disgusted to read the article, "Discussion Long, Decision Vague on Pupil's Locks," I-J Feb. 8 . . . My heart aches for our children who turn to their elders for correction and receive watered-down compromises.

Hurrah! for Principal Shaw . . . It is encouraging to see a man with some authority think of the good of his charges first, and take a firm stand on a seemingly trivial issue. Granted, the length of a boy's hair is not of earth-shaking importance, but what of the principle involved? Don't compromise, Mr. Shaw and if you are overruled, let the responsibility rest where it belongs, on the higher authorities, who have, as many parents have, allowed the children to usurp their authority. Perhaps they may even succeed in encouraging the girl students of Red Hill School to wear mini skirts; how about the topless? Well — they may have to fight for it, but with the help of the American Civil Liberties Union, they may win.

How long will the adults, beginning with parents and extending to our educational authorities and even to an organization with the noble goals of the ACLU, force the children to make decisions they really don't want to make? . . . A child is not always capable of dictating his own course of action. Lacking experience he cannot know what some apparently "little things" can lead to. When will we begin to think deeply and conscientiously of how desperately our young need guidance to direct them towards responsibility? A quality without which no one can succeed.

If the schools are to prepare our young for life, but are denied the authority to enforce rules, how can they fulfill their mission? It would seem that many parents ignore the fact that THEY must abide by certain rules in order to hold down their jobs — in order to eat and feed their families. Oh yes, and even welfare recipients must do so to draw their sustenance . . .

Truly, there is no such thing as ABSOLUTE freedom for man. All freedoms are relative. This is learned not necessarily from higher education—just living, will do . . .

Drug Arrests Seem To Be High

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am thoroughly disgusted with the present situation in Marin County in regards to the psychedelic drug users and pushers in Marin. Our County has become a haven for drug addicts.

Is it the conglomeration of laws, or the instability of our courts in arriving at proper punishment for the users and pushers? It is a known fact that the number of arrests in Marin alone is exceedingly high. Where do our law enforcement officers stand when they make an arrest, and our judges throw the case out of Court, or the accused is set free to start all over again? Our judges want more evidence while at the same time they offer very little inducement to help and support the law officers.

I think sentencing reform seems to be urgently needed in Marin.

Garbage Firm Doing Its Job

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As a resident and former director of the Enchanted Knolls Homeowners Association, I am extremely embarrassed by the suit brought by one of the residents against the Mill Valley Garbage Company. Living on a lower elevation than the plaintiff I am satisfied in paying $1.75 per month for collection. Living in areas where garbage must be sorted before pick up I feel the Mill Valley Garbage Company has done an excellent job at a competitive rate.

If the plaintiff and the association are contemplating the garbage business I would consider hiring them at the same rate if their service can equal that of the Mill Valley Garbage service.

Garbage anyone??????

Capitol March Most Disgusting

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The "psychilelic" march on Sacramento by the sick, self-appointed fuhrers supposedly representing our great universities was the most disgusting display of immature, unwarranted, delinquent depravity I've ever witnessed.

That this childish mob was ever fostered by an institution of higher learning is a disgrace to the state of California.

If such an outrageous exhibition of childish foot-stamping is allowed to continue by the greater majority of university students and teachers, then a war in fact exists between our duly elected state government and the ranting minority wanting to form an illegal academic state within a state.

Governor Reagan showed great restraint in dealing with this juvenile rebellion. I, for one pledge him my entire support. If we allow any red-rusted minority to order, threaten and intimidate our legally constituted method of law we have abandoned our reason.

Leakey Story Is Badly Played

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I cannot help but note the obvious lack of organization of importance which the I-J has demonstrated frequently, and possibly, most insultingly, on Feb. 9, 1967.

Only the night before, Marin County was so graced as to be visited by the world's most foremost anthropologist, Dr. L. S. B. Leakey, who, out of 21 engagements in California, selected Marin first. It is a sad day, indeed, that Marin's "Leading Family Newspaper" saw fit to rate this only as bottom of page 23, two-column news, when it finds room in the same issue to run on the top of page 1, three columns, with picture, and colored headline, an interview with a palm reader, who, sadly enough, enjoys a location very near to the spot where 3500 had gathered to hear a truly inspiring lecture on the evolution of man.

I cannot help but plead the I-J's make-up department to exercise more care in the future, so as to not offend the few great visitors that we are graced by, less we should have only the soothsayers left to listen to.

Attack On Trustee Hit

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In re to a letter from George Warton (Feb. 2).

It seems strange to me that Mr. Warton singled out Mrs. Anita Strom for criticism re the current controversial publication "High Times," ostensibly a student newspaper.

Somehow his letter had a familiar ring to it, so I checked the County Schools Directory and found Mr. Warton listed as a Tamalpais High School District teacher (p. 93).

Ordinarily this would probably not bother me particularly, but I have recently read the AFL-CIO California Federation of Teachers report on "academic freedom" in the San Rafael School District. Contained therein is a recommendation that CFT (not individual teachers who are legal voters in that district, mind you) actively oppose the reelection of Mrs. Strom to the school board in San Rafael in April. Now that does worry me!

Why didn't Mr. Warton mention that several high school administrators, public and parochial, in and outside the San Rafael District, had taken action against unrestricted on-campus distribution of this paper before Mrs. Strom raised the issue publicly? . . .

Although I live in Lagunitas, I happen to be a taxpayer in the San Rafael District. I resent the attempt by people who have neither residence, voter registration nor pay taxes in a school district to exercise influence and control over administration, district policy and or candidacy of school trustees there.

In view of the aforementioned CFT recommendation and recalling the obnoxious manner in which school employees expressed opposition to Mrs. Strom at the time of her appointment to the board, I can only see Mr. Warton's letter as another personal attack upon her by a teacher . . .

If the teachers and others who disagree with Mrs. Strom wish to oppose her trusteeship, let them move into her district, register to vote and then exert opposition as individual voters entitled to do so. Otherwise, let them concern themselves with trustees in the district where they now live.

I strongly protest vicious personal attacks against any unpaid, hard-working school trustee and I question the legality, morality and ethics of any interference by a Statewide organization, enjoying certain privileges under State Board of Education approval, which interferes in a local election.

Disaster Area Help Faulty

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The Independent-Journal always prints with some satisfaction the fact that Marin County has been declared a "disaster area" after a particularly rough storm. But you evidently never read of the consequences of such a proclamation in actual fact.

You claim that damage can be repaired at "3 per cent government loan." As in 1958 under similar circumstances I found that a 3 per cent loan can only be obtained if you have exhausted all sources of loan money (banks, savings and loan institutions, mortgage companies, life insurance companies, etc.) in the western United States for rates up to and including usury. If you will investigate this fact you will find it to be true. After all—the bankers wrote the act for passage by Congress, I am sure.

Please publish pertinent "chapter and verse" of the acts pertaining to a "disaster area."

Sausalito Needs Many Things

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Today we were called upon by your young agent, Mark Guy, asking us to subscribe to the I-J, which we did as a test to see actually how much Sausalito news we would receive.

We have been approached by several of your boys in the past soliciting subscriptions. They did not have much selling drive. Mark did, and came in and SOLD us. (An outstanding young man!)

We discussed our local problems, such as: The upcoming bond drive for a badly-needed new library, the possibility of the Independent-Journal improving its circulation in Sausalito by opening an office here, giving Sausalito larger and more diversified coverage.

Despite the publicity Sausalito has received recently, by far the largest segment of the population does not consist of tourists, week-end yachtsmen, or a small group of rather colorful young people.

We have family people, some retired, many couples with growing children, and other "solid-citizen" types. We need some cultural outlet for these people. We need an adequate library, adequate meaning specifically (to mention only 4 factors) (1) no stairs, (2) easy parking, (3) room to acquire and display new books, (4) an assembly room for meetings and programs, as indicated in the architect's drawings.

Student Rudeness Sours One Reader

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It seems to me that courtesy is a "sine qua non" of civilized society.

If the mob action on the Berkeley campus and now in Sacramento demonstrates what "higher education" does to people, we need less of it, not more!

If that is the result of "progressive education" in primary and secondary grades, what it demonstrates is the need to return to teaching fundamentals and individualism, with less emphasis on "Social Studies" and mass conformance, sometimes disguised as "academic freedom".

No amount of schooling will make up for the lack of good home training.
